ATHENS TELLS OF ITALIAN ROUT

Fear 1,000 Died in Rumanian Quake

RESCUERS DIG FOR VICTIMS IN CITIES' RUINS

New Temblors Add to Terror.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 11, Monday (AP).—The most destructive earthquake in Rumanian history killed and injured thousands over the week-end, leveled whole villages, set raging fires in rich oil fields, and caused millions to flee to open fields. New tremors overnight added to the terror early today.

Between 1,000 and 2,000 persons were believed to have been killed when the quake struck at 3:39 a. m. yesterday [7:39 p. m. Saturday, Chicago time.] Thousands were injured and made homeless.

The majority of buildings in 5,000 square miles of thickly populated areas were damaged. Tens of millions of dollars in property damage resulted. Hardly a house in Bucharest was untouched by the shocks, which lasted three minutes. Rescuers early today were still digging bodies from the ruins.

300 Trapped as Apartments Fall.

Officials estimated that 300 men, women and children were trapped in a 10-story apartment structure, Bucharest's newest and most modern, which was reduced to a pile of rubble amid screams of the dying.

Campina, a thickly populated oil town about 100 miles northwest of the capital, was reported in ruins, with refinery chimneys toppled and fierce fires started in plants, including those of Romano-Americana, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Ploesti, another oil production center closer to Bucharest, was hard hit.

Hospital Trains on Way.

Hospital trains moving over a dislocated railway system sought to reach Focsani and Galati, two of the hardest hit cities. Focsani, about 100 miles from Bucharest, was the epicenter of the quake.

A direct report to the Associated Press from Brasov, historic German Transylvanian city, said hundreds of roofs and large buildings collapsed.

Persons who were up at the time said the first sign of the disaster was a blinding flash of blue light, which still is unexplained.

The royal palace's windows were broken and the walls cracked, but 19 year old King Michael and Queen Mother Helen were out of the shaken area, at the summer palace in Sinaia.

Bridges Fall; Trains Halted.

Buckled tracks and collapsed bridges caused suspension of railway traffic. The fate of scores of trains was unknown.

Galati, site of a Rumanian submarine base and a city of 102,000 population on the Danube, suffered severely, as did Giurgiu, oil port on the Danube.

[These damages apparently were a hard blow to any immediate plans of the German general staff to initiate a large-scale movement of troops thru Rumania in any Balkan campaign.]

Bucharest Hotels Damaged.

The ceiling of the Continental hotel, one of Bucharest's largest, collapsed and injured many.

The area about the Libbies hotel, largest in the city, was roped off for fear its dome had been weakened.

Stores and theaters in Bucharest were forbidden to reopen until an inspection of their condition is made, and schools were closed.

Rescuers were still removing débris from the ruins of an apartment block in an attempt to reach groups of men and women trapped in an air raid shelter.

Among the towns wiped out was Panciu, near Focsani.

Bacau, a city of 30,000, about 140 miles north of Bucharest, was out of touch with the capital. Apparently this city was the northernmost affected.

The military academy near Targoviste was so badly wrecked that students were told to go home.

Americans in Bucharest Safe.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Americans in Bucharest escaped injury in the Rumanian earthquake, Franklin M. Gunther, United States minister to Rumania, reported tonight.

Sofia Buildings Cracked.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—The German radio broadcast Sofia reports that the earthquake today cracked buildings in the Bulgarian capital.

Costa Rica to Begin Work on Pan-American Highway

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Nov. 10.—Work on Costa Rica's section of the Pan-American highway will begin tomorrow. The preliminary work will consist largely of clearing the way thru mountainous jungles for modern road making equipment. Costa Rica has one of the most difficult sections of the route, particularly thru "Dead Man's pass" over the mountains near the border of Panama.

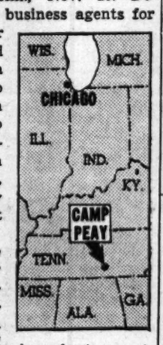
Union Agents Block Work on 33d Div. Camp

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Tullahoma, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Demands by union business agents for double pay for overtime and holidays put a sudden stop to construction work in Camp Peay, a vital military project in national defense, and temporarily put 7,000 men out of work.

To combat the demands of labor bosses, the government promptly declared a three day layoff over Saturday, Sunday, and tomorrow, Armistice day. The effect of this may be to make almost impossible the gigantic task of completing this camp by Jan. 3, the deadline.



Arrow locates site of Camp Peay.

The trouble may affect thousands of Chicago and Illinois boys, members of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard. These men are scheduled to move into camp early in January for a year's training.

Lose $78,000 in Wages.

Today, as yesterday—and as it will be tomorrow—only a minimum of essential labor is being performed in camp. For the bulk of the 7,000 workers the enforced holiday means just the loss of $78,000 in wages. Most of the men, not knowing the cause of the work stoppage, want only to get back on the job.

Tullahoma is overrun with A. F. of L. and C. I. O. organizers who are finding a fertile field among the unorganized common laborers. These initiates supplement the hundreds of building trades craftsmen already organized.

The labor setup at Camp Peay is on the open shop basis, but wages are predicated on the prevailing wage scales of Chattanooga, the highest in central Tennessee.

Pay Up to $1.50 an Hour.

Here are a few of the hourly wage scales: Plumbers, $1.50; bricklayers, $1.50; carpenters, $1.25; electricians, $1.25; iron workers, $1.25; painters, $1; sheet metal workers, $1; roofers, 85 cents; common laborers, 45 cents.

It is not compulsory to belong to a union in order to work, but it is almost impossible to get on the pay roll without a union card. When camp work was begun on Oct. 1, Maj. Carl H. Breitwieser, constructing quartermaster in charge, told labor agents that union workers would be given job preferences, and asked in return that "the common laborers be let alone."

Men Want to Work.

To hundreds of these men, all living in the locality, the camp project has been a blessing. They have been averaging $31.50 a week. For many, this is more than they previously had earned, in hard cash, in a year.

Camp work moved smoothly until a few days ago when the organizers, feeling that the time was ripe, demanded double pay for craftsmen for overtime and for any work performed on Saturdays, Sundays, or holidays.

Maj. Breitwieser rejected the demands for double pay. He is reported to have lectured the labor spokesmen.

"In less than two months," he is reported to have told them, "thousands of young men from Illinois and elsewhere are coming here to give a year of their lives to national defense. They'll get $20 to $30 a month. These are perilous times. They don't know where they might be sent. They don't know where they might leave their souls and their bodies, but I know this much—they will not be demanding double time, regardless of what they are asked to do."

JOHN P. FREY URGES UNIONS TO GET RID OF ALL RACKETEERS

New Orleans, La., Nov. 10 (AP).—John P. Frey of the American Federation of Labor urged a convention of metal trades workers today not to hesitate to denounce, expose, and eliminate racketeers from the trade union movement.

Calling attention to published reports of racketeering in labor unions in his annual report as president of the A. F. of L.'s metal trades department, Frey declared it was a problem that had been with labor for some time and that its existence had been recognized.

"If housecleaning becomes necessary," he said, "then to maintain our integrity let us do the task ourselves."

France Tells Why She Lost War to Nazis

VICHY, France, Nov. 10 (AP).—In an account of what happened from the day the German attack on France began until the armistice was signed, the French war ministry today disclosed that defeat was considered certain as early as June 12, two days before the Germans entered Paris.

The French command informed Premier Paul Reynaud's government of the gloomy outlook, but the government decided not to demand an immediate cessation of hostilities because of the English. On June 12, however, the retreat to the south was ordered.

On June 11, between the Maginot line and the sea, the war ministry said the French had only 9 normal divisions, 9 incomplete divisions, 11 divisions reduced by half, 12 reduced by one-fourth, and 9 almost destroyed.

Nearly Half of Force Lost.

"On 450 kilometers [about 281 miles] of front, the French campaign army had only 24 divisions of the 46 which had faced Germany June 4," the ministry declared.

At the beginning of June, the account continued, France had lost 38 divisions in the north, while no exact information on German losses were available.

The French command hoped, however, that the Germans would be so weakened after reaching the sea that they would be unable to continue the attack, and Generalissimo Maxime Weygand estimated that this was the last French line of defense.

On June 4, however, the Germans were reorganized, as strong as on May 10, and the next day they resumed the offensive against France.

At Dunkirk, 350,000 men were saved, the ministry's account said, 90,000 of them French and the others English.

"France Outclassed."

The war ministry said France was completely outclassed in numbers of trained men, equipment, and industrial production.

The ministry also said the English supplied only 10 divisions at the time Germany was creating 43 new ones.

"This slowness of English effort is one of the capital causes of the qualitative and even the quantitative disproportion between the forces," the ministry alleged,

EUROPE HOPES, AND FEARS, ON ARMISTICE EVE

Sigrid Schultz Tells of 3,000 Mile Tour.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—On the eve of the 22d anniversary of Armistice day, the axis powers are preparing a new conference which they hope will bring the whole European continent, including Russia, into line in their fight against England.

Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Soviet Russia's premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, will be received by Germany's foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, in Danzig early this week. From there the two will proceed to Berlin for conferences in which Adolph Hitler is expected to participate.

I have just completed a 3,000 mile tour of continental Europe from the North sea to the Mediterranean, from the Mediterranean to the Adriatic, then to the Black sea and then back north to Berlin. In Germany, the conquest made by the German armies and the hope for more victories offset somewhat the apprehension you find everywhere else—apprehension over the second war winter and what the future may bring to those who still cling to their independence or what is left of it.

Blackout Spreads Gloom.

The blackout spreads its physical and mental gloom even in the countries not directly involved in the war, such as Switzerland and Rumania. Rationing has started on a big scale in all countries, and the consciousness of the huge German war machine or Italian troops fighting in the southeast is ever present, sharpened by the knowledge that the axis powers are eager to be on most friendly terms with the power all the small nations feared—Russia.

Three weeks ago all Switzerland was saying that Switzerland would, under no conditions, agree to the demand of the axis powers that it should enforce a blackout. Three days ago the blackout was enforced.

Switzerland has made big concessions to the axis in her economic dealings with it, especially with Germany, since she is in desperate need of coal. Some German coal has been shipped to Switzerland but the coal stocks are low. The Swiss ruled that hoarders of coal may be fined and imprisoned.

Butter Rations Small.

The Swiss butter rations are smaller than those in Germany, but it is hoped this is only a temporary difficulty. Quite a lot of people hoarded butter and fats and wools and by the time these products are used the Swiss authorities hope they will have accumulated enough reserves to increase the rations.

People even started hoarding cheese and the government issued warnings reminding them of what happens to cheese if you keep it too long.

Italy is most thoro with her blackout. But her air raid alarms are a tribute to the musical talent of that country. In Milan, I was awakened by something that resembled a serenade. Trumpets sounded in the distance. Then church bells chimed in and the trumpet music grew louder. I finally realized that it was an air raid alarm unlike anything I had ever heard and in great contrast to the sirens of Berlin that pull you up with a jerk.

In Italy, corn flour is used to stretch the supply of bread, but on meatless days you can obtain chicken or tongue or similar foods. There was a shortage of coal for a while and in a number of cities cooking gas was rationed but the Italians believe they now have enough coal for all their needs.

Must Not Tell What They Hear.

In Italy, as in other countries, German citizens were warned they must not listen to foreign radio stations even if their hosts do. If they cannot avoid listening occasionally, they must never speak of what they have heard. Traveling with a radio set in Italy is strictly taboo.

FINDS IT'S A GRIM WAR FOR SAILORS ON CONVOY DUTY

BY JOHN STURDY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Nov. 10.—In a grim game of strategy and seamanship the German U-boats and the little British warships that guard the Atlantic convoys today are warring against one another with renewed intensity during the last weeks before winter.

Besides the submarines the convoys also face attacks from German bombers, hundreds of miles west of Ireland, and from surprise forays by enemy surface raiders. The North Atlantic has been a hot place in the last few weeks.

This correspondent has just returned from England in a naval escort to one of these convoys after a trip overseas aboard one of the American destroyers transferred to the British fleet. The English will find the 50 over age American ships extremely useful, whether they are actually placed in convoy duty or release other vessels for that work.

Thru Danger Zone Unharmed.

Our convoy sailed thru the danger zone without mishap. We were at sea when the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer was reported abroad in the North Atlantic. [The Germans claimed one of their raiders sank an entire convoy of 86,000 tons of ships last Tuesday.]

No phase of this war has greater risks at the moment than the job of ferrying supplies across the Atlantic, thus maintaining the ocean trade routes. On both sides—British and German—the game is one of skill and luck.

Our convoy won the round. On a cold morning, outside dangerous waters, the escort vessels signaled they were moving off and the little merchant freighters broke formation and went their ways.

The convoy was an international one—British, Norwegians, Swedes and Greeks—the majority of them coming lightly loaded to carry back supplies to England.

Route and Sailing Secret.

At dawn one morning we left a British port, the escort ships flanking the merchantmen and a scouting plane overhead. Our route was secret, our departure time known only to the naval captains in advance.

We did not go into action, but the officers and crews were prepared for attack every minute of the day and night. Wireless reports of U-boats and bomber activity against shipping kept the danger always in our minds.

At night the convoy moved in a complete blackout. In the mornings the captain of the escort would carefully count the ships as they loomed up in the dawn.

Now and again one or two ships would be lost temporarily, having straggled off in the night, but they would come up soon after daybreak. Any that dropped behind would be closely guarded by an escort vessel until able to rejoin the pack.

See Grim Reminders.

We had grim reminders that the German submarines were active and were taking toll. At one point we steamed thru a sea littered with timber, the deck cargo of some ship that had been torpedoed. Now and again we would sight an oil drum bobbing on the sea or some piece of wreckage.

Guns were kept loaded and the pins of the depth charges had been removed. They were ready to be dropped over the stern at the first contact with a U-boat.

The British officers respect the ingenuity of some of the German submarine commanders—not the type who prey on ships like the City of Benares, with women and children aboard, but the ones who will attack a warship or a protected convoy. They consider them brave and skilful

A EUROPEAN GOOSE GOES FLYING HIGH, INSIDE AN AIRPLANE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Life is gay in Budapest, the capital of a nation that still is celebrating the return of northern Transylvania from Rumania. The private export of food from Hungary is prohibited, however, and this circumstance helped give a mere goose an airplane ride.

A young American diplomat who has just visited in Budapest told the story. He first negotiated with the Hungarian ministry of interior for permission to take the goose out of the country.

Having obtained the permit, he left his grip with friends in Budapest, and in the plane space thus allotted him flew with his officially sanctioned goose back to the reich.

CLAIMS FOE LOST HEAVILY IN MEN AND MATERIALS

Destroy 2 Battalions in Another Battle.

ATHENS, Nov. 11, Monday (AP).—Italy suffered "very heavy" casualties and fiercely fighting Greek soldiers captured a large number of prisoners and quantities of all sorts of war materials in the complete defeat of a crack Alpini Centaur division in the Pindus mountains, the Greek high command reported today.

"Enemy losses in dead and wounded were very heavy," it was stated.

The story of the bitterly fought campaign which began when Italy invaded Greece and ended only yesterday in the rout of the entire division was told in the terse language of an official communique.

Another but lesser triumph over the Italians was reported in authoritative circles, which said the Greeks have crushed an Italian attack and exterminated two Fascist battalions on the Kalamas river sector of western Greece.

Foe Suffers Large Loss.

Telling of this action, the communique asserted that Greek artillery on the Epirus front shelled "enemy concentrations which suffered losses and were dispersed after leaving war materials of all sorts in our possession."

The trapped and defeated division of Alpini has been in Italian conquered Albania for a year and was fully acquainted with conditions in the mountainous area, the high command declared.

"With this large unit the enemy planned to deal a quick decisive blow at our forces in Epirus" and attempted to cross the Pindus mountains, the communique added. ". . . we pressed a series of counterattacks.

"After a fierce fight, the enemy forces were overthrown and, hastening to escape complete encirclement, retreated in disorder, hotly pursued. In their flight they carried away with them other enemy forces which were landed at Valona and rushed to aid their comrades and support their retreat.

2,500 Taken Prisoners Earlier.

While the number of Italians killed or captured was not given here, reports received on Saturday, soon after the fate of the division became virtually certain, said 2,500 officers and men already had been taken prisoners.

An Italian air attack on the Canea section of the Island of Crete was reported driven off with one raiding plane shot down in flames.

Greek sources said their planes had displayed great activity at the front while British planes were bombing Italian ports. British aid continued to reach the Greeks in greater force.

The Greeks were firmly entrenched in their reënforced positions, and the Italians appeared to have been stopped cold in the coastal area where last week they made some advances.

Officials here vigorously denied Italian claims of reaching the Acheron river and the denials have the support of neutral military attachés who said the Italians were halted by the main Greek defense lines on the Kalamas river.

Dominate Koritza Sector.

The Greeks, officials said today, now dominate the important Italian communications center of Koritza and supply roads approaching it.

The Athens radio said Italian prisoners declared the Albanian battalions cooperating with the Italians had retreated when they encountered the Greeks and were machine-gunned from behind. The radio said the Albanians continued their flight, spreading panic.

Duce Sends His Close Aid.

ROME, Nov. 10 (AP).—Premier Mussolini has dispatched his undersecretary of war, Gen. Ubaldo Soddu, directly to Albania to shake up the offensive against Greece, the high command reported today. He took command on the Greek front yesterday.

The high command communique said Italian cavalry had been sent into a "reconnaissance" operation which dashed as far as the River Vojousa [Vlosa] in northern Epirus and captured arms and cannon.

On the home front British bombers Saturday night splattered explosives on historic soil, including the vicinity of Mount Vesuvius, it was acknowledged. Cremona, home of famous violin makers in northern Italy, was bombed early today. Bombs also were dropped between Naples and Pompeii and Torre Annunciata, center of the macaroni manufacturing industry.

NAZIS INTENSIFY RAIDS ON LONDON; BOMBS RAIN DOWN

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Nov. 11, Monday (AP).—Royal air force bombers ranged during the night as far as central Germany, the air ministry announced today. A number of targets were reported hit. (A German communique said British flyers attempting to attack Berlin were turned back before they dropped any bombs.)

LONDON, Nov. 11, Monday (AP).—German raiders roaring thru a terrific antiaircraft barrage at a "one a minute" clip pounded London with high explosives for almost five hours Sunday night in an Armistice eve raid which was one of the heaviest of the aerial siege of Britain.

The unusually fierce attack slackened somewhat with the arrival of Armistice day, but reports indicated a large number of London districts had been hit by bombs.

The raiders also struck at towns in all sections of England, including the industrially vital Midlands. A large force of bombers raided a south coast town.

Ground Guns Effective.

An indication of the effectiveness of the antiaircraft guns was seen in an announcement by the air ministry's news service that they have destroyed 400 German bombers and fighters since the war began.

The raids began at sundown, ending a lull in the attack which had lasted thru the daylight hours. Until nightfall, the raiders had avoided London.

High explosive bombs wrecked houses in several coastal towns, but a machine gun attack on a village in the Scilly Islands was reported to have been ineffective.

British bombers on Saturday night were said to have attacked a German operated submarine base at Lorient and docks at Boulogne and Calais.

Other British forces struck at enemy airdromes across the channel and at one field bombs were reported to have fallen across aircraft on the ground, setting six of them afire.

Bombs Fall Among Barracks.

BERLIN, Nov. 11, Monday (AP).—Low flying German bombers caused "terrific" destruction on Sunday in a successful attack on a British military camp in southern England, informed sources declared today.

These sources said the bombs dropped by the Germans exploded amid the closely built barracks. Machine gun fire poured upon the surprised soldiers, rushing headlong for shelter, caused severe losses.

Foreign reports that the British transport Empress of Japan had been bombed on the Atlantic and that another British submarine had been sunk apparently found confirmation yesterday by the German high command.

Omits Name of Ship.

Without referring by name to the 26,032 ton former flagship of the Canadian Pacific steamship company's fleet, its daily communique said:

"Among the attacks on maritime objectives [on Saturday] was one on a big merchantman of about 25,000 tons, which was damaged by several bomb hits 500 kilometers [some 300 miles] west of Ireland."

The high command said also that "a German warship sank the British submarine H-49."

[The loss of the submarine, with its normal complement of 22 men, was acknowledged Saturday night by the British admiralty. No information has been forthcoming from London on the Empress of Japan. A correspondent of Domei, the Japanese news agency, aboard a Japanese liner carrying Japanese from Britain, radioed his New York office on Saturday that the Empress' SOS had been received.]

Temblor Shatters Rumanian Cities

DE GAULLE FORCE CAPTURES TOWN IN AFRICAN WAR

French Charge British Aid to 'Rebel.'

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 10.—French ministers consulted constantly today on the situation in French Equatorial Africa, where the French rebel officers, Gen. Charles De Gaulle and Col. Edgar Rene Larminat, are reported to be carrying out a full scale attack on the territory of Gabon. De Gaulle is charged here with being the mask for British designs on the French African colonies.

Most of French equatorial Africa has been admittedly in the hands of De Gaullists for several weeks, except for a few points such as Libreville and others which Governor Masson and the vice governor, Gen. Tetu, were holding staunchly.

Town Falls to English.

Today, however, it was announced from Dakar that the town of Lambarene, under siege since Oct. 19, had fallen to the rebels and the English. It had been furiously bombarded by cannon and airplane.

Telegrams received here from Gen. Tetu indicated that while heavily bombed and attacked by the English and rebel French landing forces, Libreville still was holding out.

Gen. Tetu charged that Libreville had been subjected yesterday to a "savage" bombardment, which, he said, destroyed part of the local hospital and also a building which housed the women's religious congregation of sisters.

Says They Won't Give In.

Gen. Tetu declared that "Msgr. Tardy, bishop of Gabon, has just expressed his anguish and horror at the savage bombardment of Libreville. Nothing will make us give in."

[The British Broadcasting corporation said in a French language broadcast heard in New York that forces of Gen. De Gaulle had landed at Libreville, and had taken over French Gabon.]

Gen. Tetu, in his message to Vichy, said he was personally conducting the defense of Libreville against the attack, which was launched from De Gaulle headquarters in Brazzaville.

ARMISTICE DAY FOR BELGIUM IS ABOLISHED BY NAZI COMMANDER

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 10 (AP) [via Berlin].—Belgium's Armistice day celebration, created in 1922, was abolished today by order of Gen. Alexander von Falkenhausen, German military commander for Belgium and northern France. Belgian sources said he acted on the suggestion of Secretary General of the Home Ministry Vossen after the German opposition here had threatened a demonstration.

The order permits Belgians to honor their soldier dead on All Saints Commemoration day, Nov. 1. They also may celebrate King Leopold day on Nov. 15, but the day must remain a work day. Display of the national flag on Nov. 11 and 15 was forbidden.

Before the order was issued, printed suggestions had been distributed for a national pilgrimage to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

40 Parliament Members Escape as Bomb Hits Club

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP).—Forty Conservative members of parliament, lunching at the famous Carlton club, escaped injury recently when a bomb struck that club and the Reform club in London's West End. Permission to publish this news came today. Glass was scattered thruout the Carlton club building and the ceiling fell in.

SEISMOGRAPH AT LOYOLA U. FEELS RUMANIAN QUAKE

The earthquakes in Rumania were recorded for a total of almost two hours on the seismograph at Loyola university, the Rev. Alphonse Schmitt, professor of physics, said last night.

The first quake began at 7:39 p. m. Saturday [Chicago time] and lasted for an hour and 20 minutes, including the reflected as well as the direct waves. After-shocks began at 2:45 p. m. yesterday on the Loyola seismograph and continued about 30 minutes.

Altho there have been several quakes in Rumania since the Loyola seismograph was installed eight years ago, none of the others was sufficiently severe to be recorded on the instrument. Prof. Schmitt deduced from this fact that the present series of quakes was of unusually destructive power.

"Altho after-shocks may be expected after big quakes, they are not ordinarily as severe as these seem to be," he said.

U. S. TO RETURN SURVIVORS OF LOST FREIGHTER

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 10 (AP).—The 37 surviving members of the American freighter City of Rayville, which was sunk off Australia on Thursday night, supposedly by a floating mine, were received today by the United States vice consul at Melbourne, Fred Jandrey. He gave them money and cigarets and will arrange their passage home. The men are at a coastal town.

Third Engineer Mac B. Bryan of Randleman, N. C., was the only person lost in the sinking. A crew member said he leaped overboard without a lifebelt and could not be found in the darkness.

Flyers Search for Raider.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—The British radio, heard here by CBS, said today that Australian minesweepers have destroyed a number of mines in Bass strait, where the City of Rayville and another ship were sunk. "Australian aircraft have been seeking the raider which laid the mines," the radio said.

CHAMBERLAIN MAY BE BURIED IN WESTMINSTER

Britain Mourns Death of Former Premier.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain died last night at the age of 71. His death, as Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, said, marks the end of an age which may never return.

As an immediate result of his death, Chamberlain's home town, Birmingham, where he began an almost uninterrupted political career late in the '90s, went into official mourning. Many wore black armbands.

Flags of all public buildings were flown at half staff. Ministers eulogized the work done by Chamberlain, his brother, the late Sir Austen, and his father, the famous Joseph Chamberlain.

Delay Announcement of Death.

Neville Chamberlain had fallen into a coma before death came at 5:30 p. m. yesterday. Britain, however, learned of his death only today. With him in his old farmhouse near the Hampshire town of Odiham when the end came were his wife and two sisters.

His home, a rambling two story structure which stood behind a grove of tall larches in the heart of the Hampshire countryside, had been camouflaged to hide it from German airman. Recently, however, German planes dropped seven bombs close to it, at least one missile landing only 40 yards away.

The former prime minister's body probably will be taken to London within the next day or two for possible burial in Westminster Abbey, where rest the remains of many of Britain's great men.

Rôle in History a Mystery.

The death of Chamberlain in the midst of the war which he himself declared following frantic efforts at appeasement leaves unanswered the question of what rôle he will be assigned by future historians. Altho numerous newspapers here condemned him for the peace of Munich, he declared in defense of it that he had "no other alternative."

Even Chamberlain's political enemies, however, now praise his unstinted devotion to country, his honesty, sincerity of purpose, and his unflagging determination, once war was declared, to fight it thru to ultimate victory.

Tells Nation It Is at War.

On Sept. 3, 1939, when Chamberlain told Britain it was at war with Germany, he declared:

"This is a sad day for us all, and to none is it sadder than to me. Everything I have worked for, everything that I have hoped for, everything that I have believed in during my public life, has crashed about me in ruins."

Then, defiantly, he added:

"I trust I may live to see the day when Hitlerism has been destroyed and a liberated Europe has been reestablished."

Victories for Axis.

This was not to be, however, and from that fateful day until he slipped into the final coma, the war was to constitute an almost unbroken chain of victories for Germany and Italy.

Chamberlain, heeding the rising clamor for a new government, resigned as prime minister last May 10, the day the Germans struck against Holland, Belgium, and France. Winston Churchill succeeded him.

Chamberlain may be most remembered for his failures, including the policy of appeasement which only seemed to work to the benefit of those men he was trying to placate, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. And the world is not likely to forget his remark that "Hitler had missed the bus," an utterance that assumed painful proportions when the Germans dashed thru the defenses of Holland, Belgium, and France a short time later.

Work as Health Minister.

However, during his long career in politics, Chamberlain attained other governmental offices which permitted a full flow of his capacities into channels where they were more appreciated. He was minister of health between 1924 and 1929, during which time more than 900,000 new homes were erected under a housing plan he had worked out. In 1931 he was made chancellor of the exchequer in the national coalition government, and saved the taxpayers huge sums.

Chamberlain began his fateful stewardship of the prime minister's office in 1937, when Stanley Baldwin retired after the abdication of King Edward VIII. and the coronation of the present monarch, George VI. He lost little time in assuming a close management over Britain's foreign policy, and guiding it along a path which eventually threw Britain into the war which he so much wanted to avoid.

DIES AFTER FALL IN STREET.

A man identified as Michael Kaczynski, 44 years old, a resident at 1426 Newberry avenue, died in County hospital yesterday of a skull fracture incurred Saturday night when he fell in the street.

AXIS COMMENT VARIES ON DEATH OF CHAMBERLAIN

Nazis Charge He Plunged Britain Into War.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—Comment by the axis partners on the death of former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain differed today in broadcasts heard here.

Germany's Lord Haw Haw declared that "German comment emphasizes that the late prime minister was fully responsible for the decision of the British government to declare war on Germany."

The Italian radio declared "there is reason to suppose" Chamberlain declared war against Germany "against his own instinct under pressure from within the Conservative party, especially from the prime war monger, Mr. Churchill.

"If Mr. Chamberlain had acted on his own instincts, he would have saved himself the fame of being responsible for the fall of the British empire, but unfortunately an eventful political career was marred at its height."

DECLARES AMERICAS MUST DECIDE WHEN TO STOP DICTATORS

HAVANA, Nov. 10.—"There can be no compromise in the present world struggle and the only choice left to American nations is to decide when the threatening aggression of the totalitarian powers is to be stopped," George Messersmith, the American ambassador, declared today at Armistice day services at the Holy Trinity cathedral.

The totalitarian states recognize no compromise, the ambassador said. "For them the stake is world domination, with all that that implies, or their own destruction," he said. "They must go forward or down. For us, therefore, there is equally no choice and it is only a question as to whether we shall leave the choice to them or whether we shall determine for ourselves when the aggression which so definitely threatens us shall be stopped.

"We are observing Armistice day not in the joyous spirit of Nov. 11, 1918, but in a spirit of serious resolve on the part of the democratic nations of this hemisphere and of the rest of the world that order and decency must return, and that war and force as instruments of national policy must be banished."

MOLOTOV LEAVES FOR BERLIN AMID GREAT CEREMONY

Rides Special Train for First Trip Abroad.

The premier's train pulled out of a flag-bedecked station at 6:40 p. m. after much ceremony in which high soviet officials including the Red army Marshal Klementi E. Voroshilov, the entire German embassy, and members of the diplomatic corps participated. It is Molotov's first trip outside of Russia.

Count Friedrich von Der Schulenberg, German ambassador to Russia, and Karl Schnurre, head of a German trade delegation which has been negotiating with Russia for a year, were on the train.

Other Officials Make Trip.

Other soviet officials making the trip, whose purpose is to "continue and broaden the constant exchange of opinions" between the two countries, included the peoples commissar for ferrous metallurgy, Ivan Tevosyan, deputy commissar for foreign affairs V. G. Dekanozov, and Deputy Commissar for foreign trade, M. Krutokov.

Specific subjects of the forthcoming conversations were not made known here but that Molotov finally was making the oft rumored visit to Adolf Hitler and Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop was seen as fresh evidence of the soviet-German policy of friendship and coöperation.

Talks between von Ribbentrop and Molotov here last year culminated in the signing in August of a nonaggression pact between Germany and Russia.

Turkey Up for Discussion.

BERLIN, Nov. 10 (AP).—The National Zeitung stated tonight that the Turkish problem lay within the scope of the Russian-German conference opening early this week in Berlin with the arrival of Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov from Moscow.

Considering the nature of the German press such an assertion took on the appearance of a semiauthorized statement that Germany intended to have the conferees do something about Turkey, which is pro-English in sentiment.

Every statement of the press about what would evolve from the conference was tempered, however, by the cautionary suggestion that nothing too revolutionary in nature should be expected. The authoritative Dienst Aus Deutschland suggested that the visit of Molotov indicated the three power pact among Italy, Germany, and Japan "had found a welcome reception" in Moscow.

To Wed Hamilton

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MRS. JANE KENDALL MASON.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 11 (AP).—John D. M. Hamilton who resigned Saturday as executive director of the Republican National committee, and Mrs. Jane Kendall Mason of Tampa announced their engagement here tonight on their arrival from Washington by plane.

They said they would be married in a few days at Mrs. Mason's home here which she recently leased. Mrs. Mason, who obtained a divorce here several weeks ago from George Grant Mason, a member of the civil aeronautics board, is socially prominent in Washington.

Hamilton was divorced at Topeka, Kas., on Dec. 29, 1937, by Laura Hall Hamilton, whom he had married in 1915. She charged gross neglect, extreme cruelty and abandonment. The two children were awarded to Mrs. Hamilton.

EUROPE HOPES —AND FEARS—ON ARMISTICE EVE

plains about the steadily increasing prices "resulting from the export of foodstuffs" to the axis powers. Anxiety that Greek or possibly Italian soldiers will in the course of the war be thrown into Jugo-Slav territory is the main topic in Belgrade. According to international law, Jugo-Slavia must hold and intern these soldiers, but the population wonders whether this could be done.

Bulgaria has started rationing foodstuffs but she has friends in the Italian, German, and Russia camps. You can hear quite a number of Bulgarians express the belief that their country will be able to win new territory—at the expense of the Turks. In axis circles you frequently hear the remark that "Turkey, like Greece, must be punished because she sided with England." Turkey still controls the Dardanelles.

Know Reds Want Dardanelles.

The Bulgarians know that Russia wants the Dardanelles. They believe that the Germans are willing to make concessions to the Russians in this direction to win them completely to their side. But Russia and Bulgaria are friends—they are both Slav nations and quite a number of prominent Bulgarians believe that Russia, Germany, and Italy would be ready to allow Bulgaria to take over the European part of Turkey and thus obtain joint control of the Dardanelles.

In Rumania, German troops and German business men fill the cities and other strategic points. Since the Germans came, the trains are delayed by many hours while German troop trains, long trains with oil tanks, and freight trains jam the railroads.

Happy at Roosevelt Election.

The green shirted Iron Guardists proclaim their enthusiasm for their German friends. The population has an attitude of reserve, however. The day of President Roosevelt's reëlection, waiters and storekeepers would come up to our little American group and express their delight. When we asked why they were happy, they would nudge in the direction of some German group shopping or enjoying the delicious Rumanian wine. "They [the Germans] don't like it that Roosevelt was elected," the Rumanians would say.

Prices are soaring. Rumanian authorities ruled that henceforth no 5 kilogram [11 pound] packages may be sent out of Rumania by private persons. What exporting is done is to be done officially with the consent of the government, but that is on a tremendous scale.

Rumanian housewives tried to hoard food, but if they now have more than a specified amount of sugar, soap, oil or beans, they must hand it over to the government.

Tomorrow German troops will start practical training of the Rumanian army.

"Significance" of Atlantic.

That the Nazis, even when in Rumania, do not have their attention limited to the east, is evident in a long editorial about the "political significance of the Atlantic ocean," which appeared in the Bucharester Tageblatt. It tells its readers of the Nordics who a thousand years ago settled America down to Florida, of the Spaniards, French and Dutch—all countries which now are under direct German "leadership."

It adds that the "twenty million who speak German in the United States are at least as strong as the English there," taking no cognizance of the American as a political entity.

TURKEY OBSERVES SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF ATATURK'S DEATH

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 10 (AP).—Turkey commemorated the second anniversary of the death of President Kemal Ataturk today on a note calling upon the country to emulate his courage and strength in these difficult times. One minute of silence was observed at 9:05 a. m., the minute "the eternal leader" died at the age of 58.

Most Turkish newspapers relegated to inside pages the news of the coming visit of Russia's Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov to Berlin, which was of extreme interest to official circles in Ankara.

The newspaper Vatan said the Turkish ambassador to Germany is returning to Turkey but gave no details.

Flight to Test Route from Chicago.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The first trial flight over a new airway—due south from Chicago to Central America down the Mississippi valley to New Orleans, La., and then across the 1,000 mile wide Gulf of Mexico to Guatemala—will be made today by two American air transportation lines operating as a team. It is another pioneering effort and forecasts establishment of regular service over the route.

The two companies are Chicago & Southern Airlines and American Export Airlines. The first has been flying from Chicago to New Orleans for nearly eight years with an excellent safety record. The second is the newest trans-oceanic aviation company in the United States. They seek federal approval to bring Chicago within 15 hours' flying time of virtually any point between here and the Canal Zone.

Flight Is for Survey Purposes.

Today's flight is being made for survey purposes. Crews will observe conditions on the route, take upper air soundings to obtain meteorological information important in any regular ocean flying service, and make their time and distance estimates from which regular timetables and operating schedules will be composed. No effort will be made to fly at high speeds.

The route lies from Chicago to St. Louis, Memphis, Jackson, Miss., and to the New Orleans combined air and sea port on Lake Pontchartrain. This part of the route will be covered in Chicago and Southern's Douglas air liners. At New Orleans passengers will switch to flying boats operated by American Export Airlines.

Speedy Ships to Be Used.

The first trips will be made in a twin-motored commercial version of the navy's long range Consolidated PBY flying boats. Regular passenger and possibly mail service will be offered in faster four-motor Sikorsky Clipper type boats that will cruise at 200 miles an hour with 16 to 25 passengers and three tons of additional cargo.

These boats will strike out across the Gulf of Mexico on a course that seldom has been flown, never in regular passenger service. The navy and a few long-range airplanes from Central American republics have made the trip, which is somewhat longer than the New Orleans-Cuba direct route.

Planes to Cross Caribbean.

The first stop after New Orleans will be at Belize, in British Honduras. From there the boats will continue across one corner of the Caribbean sea to Puerto Barrios in Guatemala and will make the final hop to Cristobal on the Atlantic side of the Panama canal without an intervening landing. This tentative schedule is subject to change and to factors that may be uncovered in the survey trips.

This reporter—accepted as a member of the pioneering crew by federal agencies—will have a first glimpse of the route from the Consolidated boat. I will leave this morning on a Chicago and Southern plane for New Orleans. From there I will take off for the gulf flight with American Export Airlines' regular flight personnel.

Route to Aid Trade Position.

The importance of the new route is manifold. It provides Chicago and the 21 states of the Mississippi valley with a preferred position for trade with Latin America. Instead of a three day trip as at present via domestic lines and Pan American Airways from Brownsville, Tex., and Mexico, the shortcut makes it a matter of hours.

American Export lines at Belize, at Puerto Barrios, and perhaps later at Guatemala City, will connect with TACA [Air Transport of Central America], which it has just purchased. TACA operates a network of routes in Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Costa Rica, and Panama that will enable travelers swiftly to go anywhere they wish in Central America.

The service will add another link to the hemisphere defense that already is chiefly a matter of aviation. The seaports and weather and radio stations that already are being constructed by American Export Airlines and TACA will be available for army or navy air fleets that operate in Latin America.

This first flight is to be a quick round trip. After one night in Cristobal the plane will return north. There probably will be 10 such trips before the Civil Aeronautics Bureau is asked to approve regular passenger service.

Proposed Air Line

Route of proposed airway which would put Chicago within 15 hours' flying time of Canal zone. First trial flight will start from city today.

BRITISH WARSHIP TORPEDOED; S O S SENT, ROME SAYS

ROME, Nov. 10 (AP).—A Stefani, official Italian news agency, dispatch from Tangier, Morocco, said tonight that an S. O. S. call had been intercepted about 10 a. m. [3 a. m. Chicago time] from a British warship believed to be a cruiser torpedoed by an Italian warship in the Mediterranean off Sicily.

Earlier an Italian high command communique reported a fierce attack by Italian bombing formations on a British naval force in the central Mediterranean in which a battleship and an aircraft carrier were said to have been hit and two British planes shot down.

On the African front, the communique admitted for the first time that the Italians had been forced to retreat from Gallabat [on the Ethiopian-Sudan frontier] after "hot fighting" on Nov. 7, then announced that Gallabat was recaptured yesterday. A counter-attack on Nov. 8 had failed, it was admitted.

Ordinary Merchant Officers.

Only one trip in a convoy is needed to reveal that the brave men are the ordinary merchant officers and seamen who sail the big and little freighters back and forth across the Atlantic. They never know what voyage may be their last one and this is no job for a man with a case of nerves.

The sailors who man the escort vessels and their officers are the crack men of Britain's small naval ships, and they are experienced in convoy work. The convoy commander, who is in charge of the actual merchant flotilla, is usually a retired admiral.

There was little sleep for the officers and men of the escort vessels. Night and day the naval ships circled the convoy, or steamed in front from one side to another, listening for submarines and with lookouts scanning the seas at all times.

Time to Relax Nerves.

Only when the danger zone had been passed was there any move towards relaxation and then only of the nerves. Submarine activity has increased, probably due to the bases made open to Germany by the fall of Norway and France and new methods of attack which have been adopted.

Submarine activity is counteracted by the convoy escort vessels and the antisubmarine patrols which Britain maintains. There have been victories on both sides during the past two or three weeks.

This correspondent heard many stories of the courage and stamina of the merchant sailors, not only British but of other nationalities, from the lips of men who had taken part in rescuing crews from torpedoed ships. We heard of men who had lashed their injured 60 year old skipper to a spar and hauled him thru heavy seas to safety, of emergency operations and sailors who had struggled valiantly in the water only to die when they were lifted on deck, of seamen crushed by floating timber broken loose from their sinking ship, of almost unbelievable examples of the will of men to live.

Harder in Cold Weather.

The convoy work gets tougher as the days grow colder and the weather turns fierce on the North Atlantic.

Leave ashore is not long, for the convoys run regularly, and escort vessels are required to be on duty most of the time.

Larger air escorts may be the answer to Adolf Hitler's bombing attacks on shipping in the Atlantic. As for submarines, their position is a precarious one when they come into contact with the vessels of Britain's escort fleet. It is a matter of "who hears who" first and it is a dangerous game for both parties.

All the screaming sirens and bursting bombings of London are no harder on the nerves than the long dark nights in an Atlantic convoy.

GEN. DRUM CASTS ASIDE TRADITION TO BUILD AN ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—Principles of the "American way" to be followed in building up a "fighting army" are laid down in an order by Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding the 1st army, to be read and become effective tomorrow in all camps and units along the Atlantic coast, from the Canadian border to South Carolina.

Lieut. Gen. Drum.

The modernized principles announced by Gen. Drum for the fusion of the regulars, National Guard, reserves and draftees under his command, as senior line officer of the United States army, set aside time encrusted tradition.

Notable in this connection are the general orders that leadership shall be determined, not by age and length of service, but by competition and merit; and that a "domineering type of leadership" must give way to "an appeal to reason."

Privates to Have Their Say.

Moreover, Gen. Drum's principles set forth that men in the ranks not only are permitted to have ideas for the good of the service—they are encouraged to have them.

Gen. Drum relinquished his command of the 2d corps area yesterday to devote his full time to training the 1st army.

"The American youth is intelligent—he is a reasoning human being—he has exceptional courage and a good sporting attitude—he has lived the life of a free man," says Gen. Drum's order. "He has a natural ingenuity which should be encouraged to develop new conceptions to supplant outmoded methods. His family environment and schooling have trained him to expect in his leaders practical knowledge, aggressively applied—an appeal to reason rather than to fear or emotion.

Raps Domineering Attitude.

"A domineering or paternalistic type of leadership will fail with him, especially if combined with inferior knowledge, indecision, inertia and lack of fortitude in meeting crises.

"A leadership based on superior personal qualities, insuring respect and confidence; a disposition to follow intelligently in any situation and to endure hardships in an understanding way is necessary in creating the fighting army we must have.

"Discipline has a broader significance than mere punishment. It is an asset, insuring mutual respect and combined team success. Its objective is an authoritative control producing combined effective action.

"Discipline should be characterized by pride in organization and a competetive desire to succeed—to lead; by mental and physical courage to endure hardship; by cheerful and intelligent obedience to orders; by pride in oneself, and finally by helpfulness and team work between fellow soldiers and subordinate units. Confidence in and respect for superiors result in the highest discipline."

U. S. Army to Train Ski Troops

Takes Tip From Finns

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10 (AP).—The army announced its intention today to train thousands of soldiers this winter to travel and fight on skis and snowshoes.

The purchase of skis and snowshoe equipment costing $82,691 was announced.

Detailing a program of training influenced by the exploits of Finland's snow fighters last winter, the war department said a prime purpose was to test the ability of one or more battalions to carry out maneuvers in deep snow.

A further aim will be to give "more advanced training to small groups of selected individuals organized into patrol units for the purpose of operating for sustained periods of time under all weather conditions and on all types of terrain."

Ex-Mayor of Narvik Speaks Today for Aid to Allies

Theodor Broch, former mayor of Narvik, Norway, will address the luncheon meeting of the Chicago Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies today in the Hotel Sherman. CLERGYMEN BID TO CHAPLAINS' SCHOOL OPENING

Brig. Gen. C. H. Bonesteel, commanding general of the 6th corps area, yesterday announced the program for the annual corps area chaplains' school which opens tomorrow night in the La Salle hotel. Gen. Bonesteel, who will speak at the opening session, has invited 2,600 Catholic and Protestant civilian clergymen of Chicago to attend tomorrow night's session. He said the civilian clergy will be permitted to submit written questions concerning the chaplain service.

Capt. Roland Bach, assistant chaplain of the area, will discuss qualifications and duties of chaplains. Maj. Frank Collins, morale officer for the area, will describe the new morale section and its functioning. Chaplain Benjamin Parskey and Dr. John Evans, religion editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, also will be on the program.

Col. Augustin W. Prentiss, chief of chemical warfare service of the area, will describe the relationship of chemical warfare to modern war at Wednesday's sessions in the Army and Navy club, 600 South Michigan avenue.

SECOND GUNBOAT ARRIVES ON WAY TO OCEAN DUTY

The U. S. S. Sacramento, a naval reserve gunboat, arrived yesterday from Michigan City to join the gunboat Paducah, which had come here previously from Duluth, Minn., at the naval armory at the foot of Randolph street. The two ships will depart at noon today for the Brooklyn navy yard, where they will be fitted out and armed.

The Sacramento, in charge of Commander O. A. Hesslar, will carry naval reservists from the 16th and 18th divisions of Indianapolis, Ind. Commander A. O. Rabideau is in charge of the Paducah, which will carry reservists from the 49th and 50th divisions of Duluth.

The ships will be joined at Detroit by the gunboat Dubuque.

KIEPURA'S LOVE OF MUSIC MASKS SECRET SORROW

Friend's Death in Poland Casts Shadow on Stage.

W-G-N will broadcast "Pagliacci" from the Civic Opera house between 9:30 and 11 o'clock tonight. Synopses of "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," also on tonight's opera program, are on page 13.

BY MARCIA WINN.

When Jan Kiepura, the Polish tenor, arrived here from New York yesterday to prepare to sing the rôle of Don José in the Chicago Opera company's "Carmen" tomorrow night, he found a brief notice awaiting him.

The notice said that Borzecki, vice prefect of Warsaw, had been shot two months ago. For 15 years he had been Jan Kiepura's best friend. Yet no one, not even Marjorie Lawrence, who sings the title rôle of "Carmen," would have suspected any secret sorrow behind the laughing sensitive face of Kiepura as he went thru a two hour rehearsal. Nor when he completed it.

Very Happy, He Says.

"I am very happy," he said. "I found this day a perfect performance. I see a new spirit in this opera. I already hear about it in New York. It is really big—much more higher than always. I am very happy about it.

"Today I feel this is perfect, Weber," [He gestured toward the vanishing figure of Henry Weber, conductor and musical director] "is the man of the future. Not just because he works hard, but he takes everything. He catches everything.

"We have something, a musical phrase. I speak. He immediately agrees. We have perfection. I have done this with Bruno Walter, with Volf, with the Opera Comique, but he, he understands. Many conductors don't take. They fix it—so," with a closed fist, "and say it cannot be otherwise. But Weber is elastic. That is why he has a great future."

His Blue Eyes Sparkle.

On and on he talks, his face alight, his blue eyes sparkling.

"I love Carmen. I love it because it allows me. I don't sing Carmen. I live Carmen. It is a pleasure for me to be Don José. I am not Tenor Kiepura. I am Don José.

[Chicago's greatest Don José in the past was Muratore, who appeared in "Carmen" again and again here from 1914 to 1921. Arsseau also attained great heights in it. The rôle, a difficult one, requires a robust tenor voice and great personal dignity. Don José's most important aria is "Air de la Fleur," a hauntingly lovely melody beginning, "This flower you give to me, degraded . . ."]

"I am a man who love and kill and kill because he love. So I do it right.

"If you see a tenor like that—la, la, la, la, la," and he demonstrates with an apathetic stare and two awkwardly outthrust arms, "if you see the tenor going at the girl with his head cocked toward the prompter while he sings 'I love you, I love you, I love you,' then the public doesn't believe in the drama.

"I prefer to sacrifice everything," he added proudly "that the public should believe I love this girl. Then the public is sad as it should be when I kill her.

"I love Carmen," he repeated. "When I sing it, I sing. Sometimes I cannot sing. I cannot study . . . This notice today, Borzecki, my biggest friend, was killed, was shot.

"He did nothing," his words slow and thoughtful. "He was just a good Pole, that's all. He was vice prefect, but he was nothing political. If you know a good friend 15 years like I know him and then one day you receive notice he is dead, then you do not much sing . . ."

"I have no country," concluded Kiepura, who was Volunteer 207 in the Polish army in France, "no home, no parents. Only music. But," defiantly, "it is good music. I believe in justice and that it will come."

DEAN ACKERMAN SEES NEW THREAT TO A FREE PRESS

It Lies in Wage-Hour Act, He Says.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the graduate school of journalism of Columbia university sees a threat to freedom of the press in mandatory application to newspapers of the overtime provisions of the federal wage and hours act.

In his annual report to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia, the dean said today:

"If the newspapers of the United States concede that any administrator in any governmental department has the power to set the minimum wage which a newspaper can pay any particular group of its employés, then he can set any minimum he pleases even to the extent of making it utterly impossible for a newspaper to have any employés at all."

He outlined a series of moves by the federal government "to control the press of the country."

"The independent educational services of the press," he said, "are being attacked and in many instances limited or imperiled by administrative acts and procedures under the law, or by an administrator's interpretation of the law."

3 DIE AS ARMY PLANE CRASHES ON HILL; BURNS

Centerville, Ala., Nov. 10 (AP).—Three men were killed tonight in the crash of a U. S. army observation ship on a hillside 10 miles south of here in a rainstorm.

N. B. Poe, who lives two miles from the crash scene, pulled the three bodies from the burning wreckage and called air corps officials at Maxwell field, Ala.

A pilot's license on one body was issued to Lieut. Benjamin F. Avery, Aurora, N. Y. Identification papers on the other two were burned. Avery was one of three men who left Atlanta airport at 3:45 p. m. for Montgomery. The others were Lieut. R. R. Wilson, Fort Riley, Kas., and Private G. A. Catlin, Maxwell field.

Fear Army Pilot Crashes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10 (AP).—Fears were expressed tonight for the safety of Lieut. Robert M. Prange, army flyer of Fort Crook, Neb., who is unreported after leaving here at 4:15 p. m. for his home base. He should have arrived at Fort Crook in three hours. A report that an unidentified plane had crashed into Spirit Lake, Ia., was received at Fort Crook.

Navy Patrol Boat Beached After Hitting Rock; 14 Safe

The United States naval reserve training ship YP-26, a 75 foot patrol boat, was beached inside the breakwater at Port Washington, Wis., after striking a submerged rock during a storm, Lieut. Edward W. Crandall of Great Lakes naval training station reported yesterday. The accident occurred Saturday night. The crew of 14, including Ensign Harl Day, who captained the ship, waded ashore in three feet of water and spent the night in a hotel.

Willkie Works on Speech He Will Deliver Tonight

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—Wendell Willkie, defeated Republican Presidential nominee, worked today on a radio address to be given tomorrow night while his personal headquarters reported that he had received more than 30,000 postelection letters and telegrams urging him to continue his "crusade." There was no indication of the precise subject of his address, to be given from 9:30 to 10 p. m. [Chicago time] over national hookups of the three major broadcasting companies. Political circles have expressed belief he will chart the course he believes his followers should take during the next four years.

MUNITIONS PLANT TOWNS TO AVOID BOOM HANGOVER

Plan Slow and Orderly Development.

BY CLAYTON KIRKPATRICK.

Rooms rented for $2.50 to $3 a week last September in Wilmington, Will county. The newest stores and homes in nearby Elwood were built so many years ago they needed a coat of paint. Joliet had at least 2,500 men looking for jobs. The tract of 62 square miles between Joliet and Wilmington and east of the Kankakee river was dotted with farm homes as it had been for more than 100 years.

Briefly that is a description of the west central section of Will county before the federal government announced plans to build a munitions plant there costing between 25 and 40 million dollars.

It was before the cry of "boom" went up and people began to talk in terms of million dollar weekly pay rolls and to speak of fabulous profits with assurance that amounted to certainty.

Boom Talk Evaporates.

Yesterday most of this talk was gone, in part evaporated by its own vehemence. The description of Sept. 1 would fit today as well as it had earlier. Exuberant talk of a boom had been replaced by these words of caution: "How long will it last?"

In the lobby of the First National bank at Wilmington, Lawrence A. Bitterman, cashier, had a respectful audience for his remarks about a speech he had heard at the last meeting of the Rotary club.

"In 1920," he said, "there were 23 defense projects such as this in the United States. Three hundred and ninety thousand men were employed in the plants. Of these, 90,000 built homes and became tax paying members of the community. The remainder were transients. Unnatural growth led to unnatural death, and when the plants closed property values depreciated as much as 95 per cent. We don't want Wilmington to become a ghost town. We want slow, steady expansion, and no inflation of any kind."

Fellow Townsmen Agree.

Most of his fellow townsmen agree with him. That's why the city council is planning stringent zoning laws to control its growth and to prohibit shack towns and trailer camps.

In Joliet the tenor of the talk was the same. Mayor George T. Jones said he wasn't going to encourage the expansion of housing facilities there until there is definite proof of need for it.

"It is estimated that 10,000 workmen will be employed in constructing the munitions plant," he said. "Very few of them could be accommodated here or in Will county towns. However, the construction laborer has migratory habits. He will drive 40 miles from Chicago, Kankakee, and a half dozen other towns within that radius to his job.

"When the construction is finished and the permanent workers for the plants move in it may be necessary to provide accommodations for them, but there's no need to worry about housing yet."

Seek to Avoid Inflation.

Charles J. Kellem, manager of the association of commerce, has a similar attitude.

"We are glad to have this new industry here, of course," he said. "But we feel that we must guard against any boom or inflation. We don't want Joliet to be overbuilt and mostly abandoned if, after a few years, peace should end operations in the munitions plant."

Feelings are mixed among the 450 farm families who will be forced to vacate the land. Many of them believe the government is treating them fairly in drawing up its purchasing contracts.

Prices range from $85 to as much as $200 an acre, with the average falling near $150. Since they are getting cash ,the price probably is somewhat better than they could get in a free market.

Tenants to Get Cash Awards.

In those instances where tenant farmers have long term leases, the purchase contract calls for cash awards up to $1,000 in consideration of their equity. No deeds have been transferred and no money has been paid, altho options have been obtained on all but about 10 of the 450 parcels of land.

There has been some grumbling among farmers because of the delay in paying the purchase price and because of a reluctance to part with land which in many instances had been a family heritage since it was homesteaded.

A month ago it flared up in a series of protest meetings in which farmers sought to block the war department in its efforts to buy the site.

Most of them were angry because the government chose to buy fertile farmlands while hundreds of acres of waste land created by strip coal mines was available west of Wilmington in the Braidwood-Coal City area.

may be taken to court in condemnation proceedings.

Practically all the land immediately necessary for the loading plant in the eastern half of the tract is under option and construction already has begun on the engineer's headquarters. This plant will be built and operated by the Sanderson and Porter Construction company. Its function will be to load shells with explosives.

Maj. Robert K. Haskell has been assigned to this plant, which will be called the Elwood Ordnance plant, as commanding officer.

The factory for manufacturing explosives, on the western half of the reserve, will be operated by E. I. du Pont de Nemours company with Col. Theodore C. Gerber as commanding officer.

Hunt Missing Boy

MURRAY UPSHAW JR.

Cartersville, Ga., Nov. 10 (AP).—Absence of any clue to the disappearance of 2 year old Murray Upshaw Jr. brought a nation-wide lookout notice from state police tonight.

Lon Sullivan, commissioner of public safety, ordered the notice sent out over the state police radio after he had conferred in Atlanta during the day with Richard G. Danner, head of the Atlanta federal bureau of investigation.

In the gloom of a rain drenched countryside surrounding the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Upshaw, the boy's parents, neighbors and friends continued their search for a trace of the sandy haired child who disappeared Friday noon, along with his dog.

Nine hundred persons searched hundreds of acres near the Upshaw home yesterday and today.

The only way a kidnaping theory could be arrived at, said Sullivan, was by a process of elimination. "When you start to figure how that kid got away, it looks like somebody took him away," Sullivan said. "He couldn't have dropped off the earth."

DEFENSE BOARD OF U. S.-CANADA OFF TO SEATTLE

New York, Nov. 10. [Secial].—Eight members of the United States-Canadian defense commission, headed by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, entrained on the Twentieth Century Limited at Grand Central terminal tonight on their way to inspect defense sites on the Pacific coast.

The group was scheduled to depart on a United Air Line's plane, but bad weather caused cancelation of the flight. The commission is expected to board a special plane in Chicago at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow to continue the westward journey.

The defense body is planning to inspect possible coastal defense sites at Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, B.C.

In addition to Mayor La Guardia, the commission members en route to the west are John Hickerson of the United States state department; Commander F. P. Sherman and Capt. N. W. Hill of the United States navy; Maj. Charles K. Gaily, United States army, and the three Canadian members, Commodore L. W. Murray, Brig. K. Stuart, and O. N. Biggar.

AWAY WITH "TEMPORARY RELIEF" FOR COMMON CONSTIPATION! ALL-BRAN REALLY CORRECTS IT!

ALL-BRAN IS JUST AS GOOD AS IT'S EFFECTIVE

JUST COMPARE a bowl of crisp, crunchy KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, plus sugar and cream and maybe some fruit, with the usual remedies for constipation due to lack of "bulk." And remember that ALL-BRAN also makes the most delicious muffins you ever tasted. Recipe on every package.

THERE ARE TWO WAYS to combat the common kind of constipation that is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet.

ONE WAY is to wait till it happens, then seek temporary relief through medicines.

THE OTHER is to get at the cause of the trouble and correct it. This is ALL-BRAN'S "better way."

If you are troubled with the common kind of constipation, due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet, doesn't this sound like common sense? Instead of enduring the difficulty first, and then trying to relieve it with an emergency medicine, why not get at the cause and correct it—with ALL-BRAN'S "ounce of prevention"?

Just eat this crisp, crunchy cereal for breakfast; eat it regularly, and drink plenty of water. You'll probably soon forget you ever worried about constipation.

Be sure, however, to get the genuine KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Accept no substitute. ALL-BRAN is backed by 20 years of experience and millions of satisfied users. It is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek and sold by grocers everywhere.

SUPPLIERS MAP SUITS TO CASH IN ON SALES TAXES

Exempted Concerns Plan to Tie Up Funds.

Many firms supplying materials to building contractors are taking steps to benefit from the sales tax collection ruling made by Gov. John Stelle and Finance Director A. L. Carter, it was learned yesterday.

John H. Lyle.

The firms plan to tie up a considerable amount in state funds while Attorney General John Cassidy is seeking to persuade Stelle to accept his opinion that the contractors cannot be made a favored class.

The contemplated action may take on the proportions of a treasury raid, it was predicted, and the administration of Governor Elect Dwight H. Green may be seriously embarrassed by a money shortage.

Company to Fight Payment.

Attorney John H. Lyle said he has been retained to act for the Merit Paint company, which will file objections to sales tax payments as a result of the Stelle-Carter ruling. Lyle said the company has numerous stores which sell paint to building contractors, and, in accordance with the law, pays a 3 per cent sales tax each month on its sales.

The hope of the materials dealers rests in Gov. Stelle's action in revising rule 6 of the sales tax regulations to give specific exemption to materials companies on supplies sold to building contractors. His decision was brought to public attention by the protest resignation of Samuel Herman, supervisor of rules of the state department of finance, who said he would not participate in the scheme.

Hotel Room Parley Charged.

It was charged that Stelle's attitude toward rule 6 was changed at a gathering following a political meeting in the Morrison hotel the night of Oct. 27. Harold Schradzke, attorney for the Material Service corporation, was at the gathering. This company is said to have Kelly-Nash political affiliations and at the political meeting Gov. Stelle was seeking to bring about the success of the Kelly-Nash county and state tickets.

Schradzke said the meeting was for the purpose of presenting to Carter, the new director of finance, his reasons for asking the state to enter a stipulation in a sales tax case pending before Circuit Judge Harry Fisher. The case involved the Material Service company.

"I understand a number of other materials firms intend to join with the Material Service company in the fight to save the sales tax money," Lyle said yesterday. "The Merit Paint company is following the lead of the Mortar Supply company, an affiliate of Material Service, in this matter.

Segregation Order Obtained.

"On Oct. 15 the Mortar Supply company obtained an order from Judge Fisher requiring the state treasurer to segregate in a protest fund the tax the company was paying that month. It is necessary to have such an order entered if a company is to get a sales tax rebate later.

"We will ask such segregation of funds we will pay Nov. 15. We are told other companies in the same line of business also will take advantage of Gov. Stelle's ruling that the sales tax law was not intended to apply on materials used by contractors.

"If Stelle's position eventually is upheld by the courts, the dealers will have millions of dollars due them in refunds. It's a business matter and not politics with them. They are protecting their rights by joining with the Material Service company in the lawsuit."

Suit Represents Consolidation.

The suit before Judge Fisher is a consolidation of several such suits filed recently. The Mortar Supply company case was joined with a suit brought by the Adams Building Material company, which is allied with the Material Service corporation.

Judge Fisher was advised last week of the opposition of Attorney General Cassidy to the Stelle-Carter attitude on the sales tax law. At that time he continued the hearing until next Friday. It is then that the newcomers, who, if successful, will drain several millions from the state treasury, are expected to join the litigation.

CASSIDY TO ENFORCE COLLECTION OF SALES TAX DESPITE STELLE

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 10 [Special].—Attorney General John Cassidy said today that his office will continue to enforce the law on sales tax collections despite the ruling of Gov. John Stelle and Finance Director A. L. Carter exempting materials companies from paying the tax on supplies sold to building contractors.

"Regardless of what the governor and the director of finance say, the law is written by the constitution and by the legislature," said Cassidy.

"The attorney general's office will enforce sales tax collections as tho there had been no attempt this week to change the sales tax laws. The only effect of the finance department order will be to embarrass the attorney general's office in trying the Material Service corporation case in the Cook county Circuit court."

After the Stelle-Carter ruling Cassidy issued an opinion holding the collection revision to be illegal and void. He held that suppliers could not be exempted from payment of the tax.

DOZING SMOKER IS BURNED.

Hilding Elm, 38 years old, of 5938 Iowa street, a painter, was seriously burned yesterday when he fell asleep while smoking a cigaret. His roommate, Walter Bergstrom, who was aroused by the smoke, extinguished the flames and called police. Elm was taken to County hospital.

28 Believed Dead as Boats Collide Off Newfoundland

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Nov. 10 (AP).—Twenty-eight persons were believed to have drowned tonight when a motorboat collided with another small craft on snowswept Conception bay and sank. Only four of the 29 men and three women aboard the motor boat Garland were known to have been saved.

RADIO CHAINS CAN BLAME WOES ON VICTOR HERBERT

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—One night in 1913 Victor Herbert walked into Shanley's restaurant off Broadway and heard the band playing music from his current hit show, "Sweethearts." His temper boiled over when the proprietor refused to pay for the performance under the copyright law. Herbert sued and the Supreme court upheld him.

Shanley's dissent was backed by an association of hotel and restaurant owners and Herbert came to the conclusion that song writers should band themselves together for protection. In 1914 Herbert with eight other prominent figures in the musical world formed an organization.

That was the beginning of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, known in the amusement world as ASCAP. Last year ASCAP distributed $5,099,302 among its 1,219 songwriters and publishers. Now the society is embroiled in a life and death grapple with the radio broadcasters over the size of fees to be paid for radio's raw material—music.

Sentimental at the core, ASCAP has developed the hide of a rhinoceros over the years in its constant court battles and never ending war to collect fees. The big radio networks, National Broadcasting company and Columbia Broadcasting system, call the society a monopoly, or music trust.

It is true that ASCAP's members have grown rich. The society remembers—and is fond of reminding its critics—that in the old days the author of "Home Sweet Home" died homeless, the author of "My Old Kentucky Home" died without the fare to get there, and the author of "Dixie" died in the north because he could not afford a trip down to a warmer climate which would have been good for his health.

$47,500,000 Since 1923.

But the day of garret life for the composer of successful melodies is over. Since 1923 ASCAP has collected $47,500,000 for the performing rights to its music. After paying its administrative officers, lawyers, and clerical help, the fees are split in half between the publishers and the composer-author members.

Topnotchers like Irving Berlin, Cole Porter, Jerome Kern, Rudolph Friml, Oley Speaks, and Sigmund Romberg received a cut of $16,000 apiece in 1939, while new, struggling composers received $120. ASCAP'S roster includes the estates of 90 deceased composers, among them Herbert, Edward MacDowell, John Philip Sousa, Ethelbert Nevin, and George Gershwin.

ASCAP had 32,524 contracts during 1939 under which it raked in license fees from 14,836 theaters, 9,991 restaurants, 2,895 dance halls, 1,852 hotels, 15 wired music services, 678 radio stations, and 2,257 miscellaneous establishments. A night club proprietor will tell you it isn't he but ASCAP who's clipping you with the check.

Difference in Fees.

Theaters pay from 5 to 20 cents a seat; restaurants and dance halls, from $60 up. Chicago's largest hotel, for example, is paying $1,600 this year for the privflege of playing ASCAP music.

Under the five year contract expiring Dec. 31, ASCAP levied a fee of 5 per cent on the income of each individual radio station. The new contract sets up a sliding scale from 3 per cent for small outlets up to 7½ per cent for large stations. The big chains are being taxed for the first time under the contract and they claim the 7½ per cent levy on their gross income proposed by ASCAP would wipe out their entire profits.

Sydney Kaye, executive vice president of Broadcast Music, Inc., the musical supply house the chains and the majority of radio stations have created to take ASCAP'S place, declared that the society was not entitled to be paid under a blanket license. Under the present setup a station pays for the right of performing any or all ASCAP music, while many of its programs are given over to news, dramatics, household hints, advice to the lovelorn, and so forth.

"The radio broadcasters insist on the principle of paying according to the use of the music," asserted Kaye. "ASCAP is trying to perpetuate a monopoly by not negotiating on the per use basis. It's comparable to a number of Saturday Evening Post or CHICAGO TRIBUNE writers ganging up and demanding that the broadcasters pay them for the privilege of using their stuff, even tho the programs were devoted entirely to music."

Radio broadcasters have sent out considerable publicity on ASCAP as a monopoly. They charge the society is under the control of a self-perpetuating board headed by Gene Buck, who wrote the lyrics to 20 Ziegfeld Follies tunes. They point out that a young composer-author has to have five hits before he can become an ASCAP member and charge that after he once gets in the hierarchy of older songwriters gobbles up the bulk of the income.

ASCAP has so far survived all its court fights on the monopoly charge. The department of justice started trial of a suit in 1935 but then dropped it. Federal authorities started looking into the society's affairs again several months ago, however.

Anti-ASCAP laws have been shoved thru 30 state legislatures. The society claims the bills were lobbied thru by radio interests.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE IN THE PACIFIC.

The sinking of an American merchantman off Melbourne, Australia, gave added interest to the letter of our New Zealand correspondent, Mr. Quentin Pope, which was published on this page on Sunday. Mr. Pope reported a growing desire in the antipodes to enjoy the protections of the Monroe Doctrine.

In its original form, of course, the doctrine was concerned with Latin America. Its purpose was to prevent the Holy Alliance in Europe from reëstablishing Spanish rule in countries which had declared their independence and set up republican régimes. The present emphasis in this country upon hemispheric defense and hemispheric solidarity may be regarded, perhaps, as an extension of the Monroe Doctrine, but it is not altogether certain that this view of the matter contributes to a better understanding of our present problems.

At any rate, tho Australia and New Zealand were surely not in contemplation when the Monroe Doctrine was first proclaimed, or for many years afterward, it is simply a fact that the strength of our navy in the Pacific evidences an intention to protect the two dominions against invasion. We have no need for so much strength merely to protect our own Pacific coast against the Japanese 6,000 miles and more away. Neither is our navy in the Pacific to guard the Philippines, for we have given them up; nor is it there to keep the Dutch East Indies from falling to Japan, for we have no sense of obligation to maintain the Dutch empire intact. That leaves only the defense of Australia and New Zealand to account for the disposition of our naval force.

Strategic considerations have led to this policy of ours and they are reinforced by the broad bond of sympathy between America and all the English-speaking nations of the British empire. We instinctively take their side because we believe we can get along with them. We are far less certain about maintaining peaceful and profitable relations with the nations which threaten the free peoples of the empire.

It is precisely this predilection which places us in a quandary. A war arising over essentially European controversies inevitably engages the dominions and with them our sympathies. The last time it was the invasion of Serbia which precipitated the fighting. This time it was the invasion of Poland. We take no part in the diplomatic maneuvers which precede the war, but once it is started we find ourselves drawn closer and closer to participation in it. The quarrel is not ours in the sense that we contributed to the making of it, but once hostilities begin, forces from within and without press us to make stupendous sacrifices in the name of English-speaking solidarity.

Already today we have conscription in America and we have appropriated 15 billions and more for land, sea, and air armaments. It is no reflection on the dominions to say that our sacrifices today in some respects exceed theirs, for ours are very nearly unprecedented in a nation at peace. None of the dominions is making a naval effort comparable to ours, for obvious reasons, and none of them, so far as we are aware, has instituted conscription in the sense that we have done so. Canada, of course, is an exception, but there the conscript is called up for only a month's training and he is not automatically available for service overseas. The men from the dominions who are fighting in this war are volunteers.

In 1917 we were called upon for the heaviest of sacrifices, but the moment that victory was secured our influence began to fade. From that experience and from more recent ones the American people can draw a lesson. If we are going to help protect the British empire we should have a voice in determining when it goes to war and when and on what terms it makes peace.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THE DRAFTEES.

The extremely limited opportunity which has been opened to the draftees to rise from the ranks only serves to emphasize more forcibly the frightful favoritism that is shown political appointees to the military academy at West Point.

The draftees must show "outstanding qualities of leadership" before they are given any consideration for commissions, and then the only commissions open to them are in the reserves, from which they can be pushed back into civil life at any time. The West Pointers, on the other hand, need only the sponsorship of a congressman or senator. They are exempt from service in the ranks, and upon completion of a course of study that is distinguished for strictness rather than academic value, are assured life jobs in the army at good pay.

This unrepublican discrimination must be stopped. The way to stop it is to abolish political appointments to West Point. So long as conscription remains in effect those appointments should be given only to conscripts or volunteers in the army who show requisite qualities of leadership, who wish to adopt the military profession, and who demonstrate their fitness for further training thru competitive examinations. The army would thereby be benefited by a more alert and intelligent officer personnel and a justified sense of discontent among the draftees over the present discrimination against them would be ended.

THREE ANNIVERSARIES.

Three anniversaries come along this time of the year. In Russia the Reds celebrate the birthday of their man-eating revolution. In Germany Herr Hitler goes to the Munich Buergerbrauer beer cellar, which he regards as the birthplace of the Nazi putsch, and where he makes a speech to the faithful. The British tried to help him celebrate last Friday by pouring bombs on him. They may have hit the hall but they missed the Fuehrer. At least they kept the Germans from hearing the talk on the air. When the bombers come over the radio is shut off.

These two anniversaries mark developments affecting millions and millions of human beings to their great injury. Then we have this Monday an anniversary which in America we can still celebrate. It was supposed to represent the recapture of a great human blessing—namely, peace. It is the anniversary of the armistice. The rejoicing people thought they not only had peace in our time but that they had a better prospect than the world had ever seen before of peace on an enduring, long term basis. The Russian anniversary is rooted in the war which the armistice ended. The German anniversary is rooted in the peace which followed the armistice and started the next war.

Of all the major peoples who were engaged in the war to end war and to make the world safe for democracy, the Americans are the only ones left who can celebrate today with any good cause, and they can't be at all sure of themselves. They don't know what next month or next year will bring them, but they still have peace, altho most of the hopes which were strong in the first celebration have gone the way of illusions.

Whatever democracy was in Europe, it is in a worse collapse now than ever before. Even if it could get rid of its tyrants it would have a terrible time getting out of the conditions which have been established. We cannot conclude for ourselves that we shall not have a bad time of it here, even if we don't go to war. An economic enemy is huddled behind the armed forces the world over, and that enemy already is on our shores. However, the American people may pause at 11 o'clock today and regard themselves as fortunate, even if only for the time being. They are not yet at war.

BUSY BILLY BULLITT.

During the campaign the White House released a statement of Daladier, the former French prime minister, denying that Ambassador William Bullitt had made any promises to the French government on the eve of war. Busy Billy was a bit of a political issue at the time, being one of the ambassadorial battalion campaigning around. The question of what the American government might have pledged itself to do beyond the things that were public and well known was a live one and it still is. A Paris newspaper now says that Mr. Bullitt had something to do with Daladier's last minute decision not to accept the Italian proposal for a final conference, Aug. 31, 1939. That statement, of course, is made by Daladier's enemies, who are endeavoring to fasten war guilt on the members of the French war cabinet. It is a political move to win favor for the new French government of capitulators, but its political intent does not wholly discredit it.

Denials are a part of a diplomat's necessary equipment. They are in a government's medicine chest for application when occasion arises. We don't know the full story of what has been going on, just as in 1916 we didn't know it. There has been comment upon the fact that the three-hour difference in time between the British and the French declarations of war has never been completely explained. It has been said that during those three hours the Italian foreign minister, Ciano, was trying to keep France out of it and that the French government, well aware of true French conditions, was, according to these reports, desperately unwilling to take the chance involved in fighting Germany.

Daladier and his ministers could not have been ignorant of the conditions which were to be revealed as soon as Germany attacked. They knew the attitude of their countrymen, they knew that the army was not what it seemed, and the manner in which they began the war revealed their hesitancy and doubt.

Whether any suggestions or anything more tangible from America bolstered up the resolution of the French government, we don't know. Apparently, the French took American support for granted and could base their faith upon the numerous utterances in Washington. Some day we may learn whether that faith rested upon something more definite. Certainly the French confidence in American help was expressed by Reynaud, after he succeeded Daladier. It had flickered out in a despairing hope as the Germans were about to enter Paris and when Reynaud called to Mr. Roosevelt for "clouds of airplanes," but it had been there and we can't say it was unjustified.

Mr. Roosevelt had promised that all the material resources would be at the disposal of France and Great Britain. When the suppressed documents come out and the concealed interchanges are disclosed, more will be known about the events preceding the entrance of France into a war so fateful for it.

Our ambassadors have been a busy lot, with the full support of their government and their state department. The public record of their activities is a voluminous one and it leads to the conclusion that there is a great deal more to be revealed later.

Editorial of the Day

FIRST UNDER THE WIRE.

[Illinois State Journal.]

Every community takes pride in being a "first" in something, and Sharon, N. H., qualifies for a medal by being ahead in voting, tabulating, and returning its election returns. Its latest record was reported at 12 minutes after the polls opened Tuesday.

Sharon once had a rival in Sangamon county. In an earlier period, Salisbury township had but a handful of Republican votes, and every one knew in advance how the township stood. Since it had no wire connection with Springfield, it was the custom to insert the prediction count in the returns without waiting to hear the result of the count, and it was first in the newspaper returns.

One day, however, Salisbury surprised itself and the world by electing a Republican to a local office. It sent a courier to Springfield with the news, and the morning papers had to "make over." After that, Illinois abandoned early returns contests to the unchanging towns in New England.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIERS.

The American, in Arlington cemetery, opposite Washington, D. C.:

The English, in Westminster abbey:

Beneath this stone rests the body of a British warrior, unknown by name or rank, brought from France to lie among the most illustrious of the land and buried here on Armistice day, November, 1920, in the presence of his majesty King George V., his ministers of state, the chiefs of his forces and a vast concourse of the nation.

Thus are commemorated the many multitudes who during the great war of 1914-'18 gave the most that man can give, life itself—for God, for king and country, for loved ones, home and empire, for the sacred cause of justice, and the freedom of the world.

"They buried him among the kings because he had done good toward God and toward his house."

The French, at the Arc de Triomphe, Champs Elysées, Paris:

The Belgian, in Brussels [two languages, French and Flemish]:

Ignoto Militi MCMXV.-MCMXVIII.

The Portuguese:

The average American of today does not know that Portugal fought with the allies in the world war. There are two unknown soldiers of Portugal, buried in the same tomb, one from the French front and one from the African front. The tomb is in Batalha abbey, near Leiria, 107 miles from Lisbon. This fine example of medieval architecture is itself a memorial to Portugal's wars of independence. The text of the inscription is not available, but it certainly contains the words:

"Soldado Desconhecido."

The German?

Germany did not adopt the Unknown Soldier idea, which started among her conquerors. The German memorial to the world war dead is in the "Neue Wache" [the New Guard House], a building of fine classical design on Unter den Linden in Berlin, near the former imperial palace, built in 1816. The memorial is a square block of black granite bearing a wreath of oak leaves in metal which came from the decorations of soldiers who had been killed in battle. Armistice day is not observed. The Sunday closest to the middle of March is the German Memorial day.

THOUGHTS ON THE DAY.

No trumpet note can wake them from their dreams;
Beneath these simple stones they calmly sleep.
Across the shadows morning sunlight gleams—
But not for them—their light went out at dawn!
We called them from their play to fight the foe;
They could not understand why they should go,
But questioned not—we glibly bade them "On!"
"Go save our world," we cried, "tho you must die!"
(We sent them forth that we might save our ease.)
They heard our cry—themselves they could not please;
They marched, and fell—and here in sleep they lie.
Have we kept faith with them? Still crieth Peace:
"O men of earth, when will your warfare cease!"

Thomas Curtis Clark.

Houdini's Most Embarrassing Moment.

Years ago I witnessed what were perhaps the most uncomfortable 15 minutes the late Houdini spent during his career as a magician. He was performing at the Princess theater on South Clark street where, besides showing his regular bag of tricks, he was exposing the workings of spiritualistic mediums. He proceeded to do a trick that I had seen him do successfully several times.

He swallowed [apparently] a length of thread, then the contents of two packages of sewing needles, drank a glass of water, pounded his chest like a gorilla, and yodeled. But when he started to pull the string out of his mouth with the needles nicely threaded, as he had always done, something went wrong. I watched his attendant turn pale.

After working feverishly for 10 minutes Houdini managed to extract one needle, then another, till all were accounted for. Then he said, "This is the first time this trick has failed. The next time I won't be so gay and yodel so much." Maxellus.

Plans for Der Tag.

What will the Linemaster do to celebrate his birthday this month? Well, he might give himself a treat by going to hear Prof. Arthur Brown, with whom he used to hobnob at the Cliff Dwellers' club, lecture that night on ancient Irish lore [McKinlock campus, Northwestern university].

We note from the synopsis of this event that Arthur will discuss, among other things, the ancient Celtic writing called Ogham, and we suspect that many of the contributions that come to this column are written in Ogham.

LINES TO THE CANAL.

Paw sez, in Chicago there's one thing which
Is a wonderful illustration
Of political manipulation.
We spent nearly thirty million for a drainage ditch
And it had just got nicely goin'
When some branch of the government
Changed all the rules and we quickly spent
Three million more to keep it from flowin'.

The Last Days of Horace.

With November comes the anniversary of the death of Horace. Born 65 B. C. at Venusia, now Venosa, some hundred miles from Naples; educated at Athens where only the sons of noblemen were educated; made military tribune at 22, he was a man of action. A writer, too, enjoying the friendship of Virgil. A man of personal freedom to the end, lauding Augustus, yet refusing to become his secretary. Best of all, a poet of such crystalline clearness that no other poet, Shakespeare alone excepted, has ever been more frequently quoted. Shade of Macauley.

Let us extract what postelection balm we can from these lines of Whittier's:

"Prince thou art—the grownup man
Only is republican." C. G. F.

The Unknown Soldier represents a great poetic conception of sorrow and remembrance. We have yet to learn from whose mind it first sprang.

CHARLES COLLINS.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PASTEUR'S GREAT DISCOVERY.

SOME of us are old enough to recall the conquest of rabies [hydrophobia]. Pasteur's first patient journeyed all the way from Alsace to Paris because his parents had heard of a great scientist who was studying the dread disease. At that time—in the early '80s—Pasteur himself was not sure that his plan would work with human beings and the best he could tell the distressed mother was that he would try its effects.

He had saved the lives of many pets by injecting very small, followed by increasing, doses of vaccine. Later he allowed these animals to mingle with others known to have the infection. While every untreated dog developed the illness, those given the "tame" virus were safe.

But would this procedure be successful with Joseph Meister? The 9 year old boy had been terribly mangled by a rabid hound. He suffered no less than 14 lacerations and from experience the village physician knew that he would face terrific suffering and an untimely death.

It was on July 6, 1885, that Pasteur courageously administered the first "shot" to this lad. Few of us can sense fully the anxiety he must have felt over this first human trial. Fortunately, success crowned his efforts. From that day the world has known that—thanks to a wise French scientist—a fatal outcome is unnecessary.

Hydrophobia is spread by afflicted animals—wild or tame. Wolves, coyotes, and foxes as well as canines may become victims. Wandering or roving mongrels are far more likely to be attacked. In turn they may transmit the ailment to cattle, sheep, cats, horses, or swine. The infectious agent is excreted in the saliva of the sick creature. Thus it is that a nip may inoculate enough of the virus to bring on the malady. In fact, only a small abrasion of the skin may be required.

The price of safety lies in our ability to protect all communities against homeless strays, which travel about picking up their food where they can. A single diseased dog, in the course of a day, can endanger a score.

Every bite, therefore, must be looked upon with suspicion until we know that there is no danger. The first instruction is—don't kill the dog. It should be penned up and observed. If it is infected it cannot live more than two weeks. If it is alive and well at the end of the quarantine interval, even tho it has bitten a child, the vaccine need not be given. If it dies within the period the brain should be sent immediately to the nearest health laboratory, where an examination will identify the cause.

If the verdict is rabies, treatment must be started at once. Of course, it should not be given unnecessarily, as it involves considerable inconvenience. Furthermore—in rare cases—it may be injurious. But even with a small element of risk no one should chance the disorder itself.

There should be no delay in instituting the régime if the dog is known to be afflicted. The more prompt the administration, the more certain prevention will be. The colder season of the year is no safeguard, altho roaming is lessened with the onset of severe winter weather. But every stray should be corralled and confined until it is known positively that it is not a menace to the children of the community.

PIN SWALLOWER.

A. F. writes: I swallowed a small safety pin. Can this cause any serious trouble?

REPLY.

Not if it was closed. Even tho it was open it may pass safely thru the digestive tract. But why hold such articles in the mouth? There is always a possibility that a quick gasp or gulp will cause swallowing; or the object may lodge in a bronchus.

ABDOMINAL DISTRESS.

Mr. J. B. writes: I am a man 70 years of age and have suffered with abdominal cramps for some time. What can I do to get relief?

REPLY.

There are many causes, some of which can be remedied easily. If a bland diet is not followed by improvement, a careful investigation should be made.

NONE.

Mrs. A. M. writes: Is it better to lie on a high or low pillow when one suffers from low blood pressure?

REPLY.

Train yourself to sleep without a pillow.

ONE DISSENTING PLEA FROM EUROPE

Don't let it happen again
THE THOUSANDS OF AMERICANS WHO DIED IN EUROPE'S LAST WAR
Copyright, 1940, by The Chicago Tribune.
BARRIE

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

FOR UNITY, NOT ACTUAL WAR.

New York, Nov. 7.—Statements on freedom of the press are engraved on the walls of the entrance lobby of the Chicago Tribune building as a permanent reminder that this principle should be cherished and observed. I appeal to that high standard of freedom to reply to and to correct a factual misstatement of my own position and that of the American Defenders of Freedom, of which I am director, which appeared on the front page of last Monday's TRIBUNE.

Your Mr. Fulton interviewed me on Sunday at my home in Suffern, a New York suburb. His report carried the headline "Admits Drive to Involve United States in War—Maps Campaign of Propaganda to Sway Nation."

The spark that caused this sudden interview was our release of "The Call for Unity, to Americans All, to Meet the Greatest Trial of Our History." The call was sent to an official of THE TRIBUNE among other prominent Americans. To this call 30 representative citizens from Maine to California to Florida signed their names, among them such men as James W. Brown, president of Editor and Publisher, Msgr. John A. Ryan, National Catholic Welfare conference, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, California, Booth Tarkington, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. This pro-American, nonpartisan call was drafted a week before election for release on Tuesday, before any one could know who would be elected. The call appeared in many newspapers and was announced over the radio, but was not included in the Tribune interview, which had been given on the basis of that call.

The choice of the word "admits" in the Tribune headline indicates a prejudiced approach to our nonpartisan, nonpolitical, prodemocracy work. It carries the implication that we are guilty of something, which certainly the interviewer did not suggest in his questioning. My definite answer to one important question was not correctly quoted. I said explicitly that neither I personally nor this organization advocated going to war in the sense of sending soldiers abroad. Coöperating with and strengthening attacked republics and democracies—yes. I also said that we are already "in the war" in the sense that totalitarian agents are now on our soil, directing propaganda and subversive activities to divide and weaken us. That was not reported, however.

An interpretive opinion on the editorial page might be understandable journalism, even tho not in accord with the facts. But the story charging me with "attempting to involve the United States in war" was displayed in headlines as objective news. In line with our printed "Statement of Policy," handed to Mr. Fulton, we are neither "interventionists" nor "isolationists." We are pro-American, prodemocracy "coöperationists." That means that we believe in protecting American interests wherever they are and in coöperating with Canada and the South American republics, China, and Great Britain, "short of war."

That word "war" fools many of us. No one wants to be involved in war. But whether we like it or not, we are already involved in the threat of the totalitarian world revolution, with spies and agents in our midst, sent from the revolutionary headquarters in Berlin, Rome, Moscow, and Tokio, out to remake the world and put us on the spot. It is poppycock to say that these facts, daily in foreign news and in Dies committee reports, are "hysteria." Tell that to the Norwegians, Belgians, Danes, and other fallen democracies.

If our "Call for Unity" is "propaganda to sway the nation," thousands of Americans will say, "Let's have more of it." It is disunity and dis-service to true Americanism to be too quick to charge "interventionist" or "war monger," to defenders of freedom on the mental and moral front, where we are weak and divided.

We may differ as to degree of our preparedness against the totalitarian threat, as to the exact means of defeating subversive penetration and mind poisoning. But isn't it possible to agree that sincere, pro-American propaganda to offset totalitarian propaganda, and to help preserve our American way and interests, is modernized, healthy public education? Unless the American press tolerates freedom of expression for all-American counter-propaganda its own freedom is working too badly to be worth much.

May I add that the apparently slighting reference to "Carl Beck, paid director" was made by a paid reporter, to a paid editorial staff, under the jurisdiction of a paid publisher? CARL BECK.

A FEW DEDUCTIONS.

Oconto, Wis., Nov. 7.—Deduct from the Roosevelt vote the millions who have their fingers in the New Deal political pie; consider the billions of dollars of the people's money which have been spent directly and indirectly for political purposes during the last eight years; deduct the solid south where they still think the civil war is in progress. Now consider that about four out of every nine people voted for Willkie. What do you have? You have a smashing victory for Willkie.

A READER.

THE PRESIDENT'S PLEDGE.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The subject matter of your front page cartoon today quoting the President's pledge to keep us out of war is something that in my opinion should be published daily by a large section of the press. Possibly space could be found for it on the editorial page.

Let's never let the nation forget this pledge, and I know of no one better qualified to start the movement than THE TRIBUNE. READER.

Marion, Ind., Nov. 7.—I suggest that every woman in the nation wire President Roosevelt as follows: "Please remember your promise to us about war."

ETTA HAMILTON.

HUFFING AND PUFFING.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—To the "Big Wind of Chicago"—THE TRIBUNE: Well, I see all your huffing puffing didn't do much about getting your man [I believe his name was Willkie] in the President's chair. Take the advice of a group I know and next time you want to elect a man just get behind the man you don't want elected. I dare you to print this. M. H. M.

MUDSLINGING SHEET."

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Well, how does your mudslinging scandal sheet feel now? I hope you know that you are licked and give a good man a chance. You can't keep a good man down. MISS MARY L.

TRIBUTE TO THE FARMERS.

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 7.—We people of the larger towns in the farm states are apt to grumble at the farmers and accuse them of wanting the earth at our expense, but I for one want to say God bless our farmers for supporting a man with their vote who was their real friend.

The farmers of Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, and so on are evidently smarter than we of the towns when they can recognize a real man and support him in the face of the big checks they received the very week of election.

They should be given a vote of thanks and I for one nominate THE TRIBUNE as the paper to give them those thanks. Give them a big editorial and let them know we will never go far wrong after all if we listen to their vote in times like these. Their support of Wendell Willkie was magnificent and altho their final vote didn't count they, like Willkie, are fine folks—our kind of folks.

MRS. FRED D. PAYN.

ROOM FOR A RUBBER PLANT?

Chicago, Nov. 9.—I am writing in the hope that, thru the aid of your paper, I shall find some person who would like to have a rubber plant.

We have a beautiful, large plant which we have kept in the yard all summer. It is too large for our living room and it seems a pity to just let it die of frost. Perhaps there is some plant lover who has room for it and would like to take it.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Does the old age pension cover persons who have families who are able to care for them?

2. Is it for all old people at least 65 or 90?

3. For people who do not have any cash?

4. Whom do you contact in Chicago for it? E. D.

1. No.
2. No. [See 1.]
3. There are other qualifications.
4. The act grants old age assistance to citizens 65 years old who have resided in Illinois five years of the preceding nine years, the last year being continuous; who are not supported by public institutions, have no children able to support them and have not purchased full care in private institutions. Assistance will not exceed $40 per month. If the applicant has a private income, the pension is scaled down proportionately. Funeral expenses up to $100 are payable where the estate proves insufficient.

Age can be proved by proper copy of birth certificate; Bible record; application to a fraternal order; application for insurance made before Jan. 1, 1920; school record; enlistment in army or navy; or of marriage license application. For further information apply to the office on the seventh floor, Merchandise Mart.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

AUTO THEFT ALIBI JAILS 2 BROTHERS IN HIT-RUN DEATH

Nabbed While Reporting; One Admits Accident.

Two brothers were arrested by Brighton Park police yesterday in connection with the hit and run automobile death of a pedestrian after they appeared at the police station to report their car had been stolen.

The man killed was Daniel B. Scully, 73 years old, 3612 South Hamilton avenue, a city electrical inspector, who was run down at 35th street and Archer avenue. Police were suspicious when Bruno Majszak Jr., 21, of 3214 South Ashland avenue, reported the theft of his car, the description of which fitted that of the hit and run car.

Majszak finally admitted his car had struck Scully. Held in custody with him was his brother, Edward, 26, of 2953 Keeley street, who appeared with Bruno at the station. Police said Bruno admitted he had several glasses of beer before the accident.

Drives into Crowd; Seized.

Austin Rheiner, 24, of 4152 Gladys avenue, was seized in his home yesterday, a few hours after he had driven a stolen automobile into a crowd of persons waiting for a street car at 9th street and Wabash avenue. Three student nurses at the Michael Reese hospital and three men were injured.

Rheiner fled after the accident, but a companion, James O'Boyle, 4428 Van Buren street, was seized by witnesses to the accident. Rheiner confessed he had stolen the car a short time before the accident.

Helen Mortell, 14, of 1453 North Lawler avenue, died in the West Suburban hospital of injuries suffered last Thursday when she fell from the running board of a car driven by Fred Beck Jr. of 1506 North Hamlin avenue.

William J. Harrington, 79, died in his home at 3122 West 16th street of injuries incurred Sept. 4 when he was struck by an automobile in front of 2341 Ogden avenue. Charles Laidlaw, 1558 Clybourn avenue, was the driver.

Struck by Auto; Dies.

Albert Meyer, 58, of 2537 Sheffield avenue, died in Ravenswood hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when he was struck by an automobile at Western and Wilson avenues. The driver was Ira Brazil, 1117 West 61st street.

Frank Opyt, 28, of 732 West 118th street, died in Little Company of Mary hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when his car collided with another machine at 87th street and Cicero avenue.

Mrs. Mary Lanzillotti, 61, died in County hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 28 when the car in which she was riding collided with another machine at Western avenue and Roosevelt road. She lived at 1033 Lytle street.

Thomas Garry, 66, a farmer, of Huntley in McHenry county, died in the Woodstock hospital. He was injured Saturday when his car collided with a truck near Woodstock.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 754 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 550 were killed in Chicago where 20,245 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

Newlywed Robbers

MRS. FERN STEGAN.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

LAWRENCE STEGAN.

A young married couple, wed four months, were arrested yesterday after they held up William Campbell, 127 West North avenue, a taxicab driver, and robbed him of $5. They are Lawrence Stegan, 22 years old, and his wife, Fern, 18, of 507 Fullerton avenue.

Stegan said he lost his job as a shipping clerk several weeks ago and was unable to find another. He said that when he learned that he could not draw unemployment compensation until three weeks hence he decided to rob some one.

"I told my wife about it and she protested," he said. "When I told her I had made up my mind she insisted on coming along."

3 Bandits Slug Escort; Kidnap and Rob Woman

Mrs. Sylvia Montera, 28 years old, 2547 Washington boulevard, reported to police that she was kidnaped and robbed of $15 yesterday by three men who forced her into their car at Talman avenue and Washington boulevard. Her escort, Carl Wollen, 2238 Austin boulevard, was beaten by the bandits.

ONCE FAMED TWIN RADIO TOWERS OF W-G-N RAZED

Crowd Sees Old 300 Foot Shafts Demolished.

Scores of motorists and a swarm of amateur photographers looked on yesterday as workmen cut down the twin towers which served the W-G-N transmitter from October, 1926, until March, 1939. The towers, erected on a six acre site four miles east of Elgin on route 20, were the first 300 foot transmitter structures in Chicagoland.

Put up at a cost of $18,000, the towers are now worth about $1,800 for scrap steel. They were sold a few months ago along with the land and the transmitter building to the Borden Dairy company for use as an experimental laboratory.

Giants Razed in Two Hours.

It took less than two hours to bring the 40 ton structures crashing to the ground. Mechanics with acetylene torches cut thru one of the four legs on each tower and then thru the anchor bolts on the other legs. The towers then were pulled over by a cable attached to a truck.

This transmitter was the second used by W-G-N. The first equipment was situated across the road on the south side of route 20. The present transmitter is on a 101 acre tract off Rohlwing road near Roselle.

New Tower 750 Feet High.

The new transmission tower, or radiator, is a single column 750 feet high—the tallest man-made structure in the central states. It weights 65 tons.

Carl J. Meyers, veteran chief engineer of the broadcasting station, remembers the first broadcast sent out over the twin tower transmitter in 1926. It was a broadcast of a world series baseball game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees.

Meyers did not see the towers demolished. "I worked for years to keep them standing," he said, "I wouldn't want to be around to see them come down."

THREE CONFESS 14 BURGLARIES AND 7 HOLDUPS

Three young men, arrested yesterday by Lawndale police, confessed 14 burglaries, 7 holdups, and 10 automobile thefts within a one month crime career which netted them $15,000. They are Edward Spurr, 19 years old, 2607 Ogden avenue; Bernard Klein, 20, and his brother, Sidney, 19, of 1311 South Sawyer avenue.

Spurr had been sought since he failed to appear Friday in Safety court on a charge of reckless driving. Police learned he associated with the Klein brothers, and Sidney Klein was arrested when a stolen car was found parked near his home. He directed police to a hotel at 4144 Roosevelt road, where Spurr and Bernard Klein were seized.

W-G-N Stars on View

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

An exhibit of autographed photographs of stars of the radio, screen, and stage who have been featured on W-G-N programs in the last few months was opened yesterday in the Esquire theater, 58 East Oak street. A survey made recently showed that since July 4 W-G-N has presented more big names than ever have been heard from one radio station in a comparable length of time.

Among the more than 70 stars on the list are Al Jolson, Freddie Bartholomew, Joan Bennett, Charles Laughton, Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard, Cecil B. De Mille, Joe Penner, the Ritz Brothers, and, among the singers, Marion Claire, James Melton, Jan Peerce, Attilio Baggiore, Igor Gorin, and John Carter.

W-G-N singers and actresses were in the first crowd to view the exhibit. They included Kathleen Carnes, Grace McCarthy, Donna Reade, Louise Barkley, Patti Clayton, and Fran Carlon.

Hunter Gets in Comrade's Line of Fire; Shot in Legs

This year's opening day for pheasant and rabbit shooting had its first known injury in this area yesterday when Edward Michalek, 23 years old, 9036 31st street, Brookfield, was accidentally wounded while hunting near Naperville. Michalek got in the line of fire of his companion, William Fridrygh, 284 Lionell road, Riverside, and was shot in both legs. He was taken to the Berwyn hospital.

Have You Any Question on Life Insurance?

'HINDSIGHT AND FORESIGHT'
a weekly column by
Holgar J. Johnson
President Institute of Life Insurance

I HAVE had an inquiry put to me by a man who owns several life insurance policies:

"You have been suggesting that I get in touch with my life insurance agent when I have a question to ask about my insurance. But I have moved lately and lost track of him. What then?"

JOHNSON

There are several things you can do, depending upon the kind of question you want to ask. You can write to the company which issued your last policy and ask the question. Or, if it is something that requires personal consultation, ask the company to nominate a local agent to render you the service to which you are entitled.

You might also select a new agent yourself, by asking your friends—just as you would select a doctor or a lawyer. The good agent will be glad to advise you without your making any commitments.

Moreover, the Institute has established a special department to handle correspondence with policy owners and the public. We are glad to have you turn to us if we can be helpful.

While most questions are best answered by the agent on the ground, we have found that there are many people who want information on matters which can readily be discussed by mail. This information we try to give; in fact, this is one of the chief purposes for which the Institute is maintained by the insurance companies which support it.

And, of course, this service is wholly without cost to the public and you may be sure that the correspondence is a confidential matter between the Institute and yourself.

This regular Monday column is provided by the Institute of Life Insurance to permit its President to speak to America's policy owners. Address inquiries to the Institute at 60 East 42nd St., New York City.

YOU CAN GET A LOAN OF $100

IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.43 A MONTH

No endorsers or guarantors needed—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Your loan promptly arranged in a brief, friendly interview

WOULD you like to get a cash loan without having to ask friends or relatives for a favor? At Household Finance you can apply for $20 to $300—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make small monthly payments on your loan. We require no stocks or bonds, no wage or salary assignment. You borrow on your own signature (no friends need sign)—and at rates substantially below the lawful maximum.

Choose your own payment plan

See, in the table below, how you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments which fit your own income. You may repay in small installments spread over 20 months. Or you may repay sooner to reduce the charges. Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.77 each will repay a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months will also repay a $100 loan.

Same rate to everyone

Installments in the table cover everything. They include charges at the rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only one rate—the same to everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

No one else need know

When you borrow at Household, there is no need to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) We do not ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should be faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan, Household will show you every consideration. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

If a loan will help you, you are urged to look at the table again. Then phone or visit us for further information. You'll be under no obligation to borrow.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

Plan Tea Dance and Ball for Princeton Day

BY JUDITH CASS.

A TEA-DANCE and a ball on Saturday, Dec. 28, will probably be the only dances this winter at which there will be a long stag line, for the Princeton Trianglers will attend both parties, thus making up for the scarcity of beaux caused by the fact that many young Chicagoans already have enlisted for military service. Many more are planning to leave before Christmas.

The tea-dance is one Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. John Eliot Warner will give from 4 to 7 o'clock at the Casino club for Barbara Warner, Mrs. Wheeler's debutante niece. Mrs. Wheeler has canceled her plans for a dinner for Miss Warner on Dec. 27 in order to give the tea-dance preceding the Trianglers' show.

Princetonians to Dance as Long as They Wish.

Miss Evelyn Gardner will be the center of attraction at the ball her parents, the Henry Gardners, will give on the night of the 28th at the Blackstone. Ordinarily the Princetonians have to rush away immediately after their performance here, so they have little time to enjoy a ball after they leave the Civic Opera house, but this year they will be able to dance all night if they desire, for they will spend Sunday here. Charles Fitzmorris Jr., William A. Cremin, and Theodore S. Chapman are on the local committee arranging the show. Mr. Chapman's brother, Robert H. Chapman III. of Greenwich, is president of the Triangle club.

Tickets to the show, which is entitled "Many a Slip," are on sale at the Chicago, Racquet, and University clubs. Numerous dinner parties are being planned to precede the show. One of the largest will be one for 50 young people which the Edward L. Ryersons will give at the Racquet club.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody to Give Sub-Deb Party.

There is no doubt that the sub-debs and their youthful beaux are going to have a gay and busy Christmas holiday season, for more parties for them are planned every day. Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody has reserved Monday night, Dec. 23, at the Racquet club, for a dinner-dance she will give for the daughters of her great friends, Mrs. Darrow Bruce Fulton and the John Lewis Cochrans. The girls are both named Nancy. Nancy Fulton is at St. Timothy's in Catonsville, Md., and Nancy Cochran is at Miss Walker's in Simsbury, Conn.

Nancy Cochran's sister, Eleanor, who will be a debutante next season, was graduated from Miss Walker's last June, and now is in her freshman year at Mills college in California.

Mrs. Nelson Thomasson Jr. announces that the Christmas Fortnightly will be given on Christmas night at the Fortnightly club.

Melvin Traylor was in the east this last week-end to usher at the marriage on Saturday of Miss Ann Parshall Wheeler, daughter of Mrs. Walter Wessels of Oak Lane, Pa., and E. Wyllys Andrews, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Andrews of Los Angeles, Cal. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in the Oak Lane Presbyterian church by the Rev. Wilson T. M. Beale, assisted by the Rev. Earl Douglas. On Wednesday Mr. Andrews and his bride will sail from New York for Panama. They will be at home in Cambridge, Mass., after Dec. 1.

Theodore Tiekens Welcome a Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tieken [Elizabeth Babson] announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Friday night at the Presbyterian hospital. The baby has been named Nancy Babson Tieken.

Mrs. Farwell Hill of San Francisco, Cal., had a double purpose in coming to Chicago, for she was among the first to greet her new granddaughter, Leslie Jacks, born on Nov. 5 to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jacks in the Evanston hospital; and she also greeted her sisters, Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins of Lake Forest and Mrs. F. Corning Kenly of Medford, Ore. Both Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Kenly are planning to remain here until after Christmas.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dorman Welton Jr. of Lake Forest Wednesday morning at the Passavant hospital. The young lady has been named Juliet for her mother, who was Juliet Gover Street Earle of Baltimore, Md., before her marriage. Young Miss Welton has a 3 year old brother, Richard.

The Orville Taylors and the Thorne Donnelleys will spend today, tomorrow, and Wednesday duck shooting at the Grand Island club.

The second of six teas and fashion showings sponsored by the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins on Mondays in Camellia House, the Drake, will be given this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 10.—Sunday.—To Gregory La Cava's at Malibu Beach. He has bought the place he was renting, will add an immense playroom along the ocean front, and must move into town Nov. 15 so the architects may have their way. Otho Lovering, Walter Wanger's film editor, reports good business for "The Long Voyage Home," even tho it is that thing that all Hollywood tries to avoid, a critics' picture. Local notices on "Long Voyage" are as ecstatic as those in New York. . . . To Leo Carrillo's ranch, where the master is throwing a cowboy party in honor of Henry Mac Rae and the cast of Universal's new upped-budget serial, "Riders of Death Valley." The Carrillo ranch is quite a jernt, being nothing whatever like a ranch but quite a lot like a landscape architect's dream. It's a piece of a canyon in Santa Monica, which isn't rural and isn't far from town.

Monday: So it's a day off and I write some letters and take a golf lesson, but it probably won't do any good. To Leone's for dinner with Dick Carroll, Leone being the latest New York restaurateur to have a go at operating a place on Sunset Strip, and the dinner menu is too bountiful so I settle for a fine mess of fettucini. . . . On to Clifford Fischer's "Folies Bergere" again just to see the Wiere Brothers, who have been signed by Mr. Zanuck, and to call on them backstage afterward.

Tuesday: To the Republic lot, where much construction is going on. They're building two new sound stages. The present stages, a hold-over from Mack Sennett silent days, are stuffed with mattresses and hay to make them soundproof, and the new ones will be an unaccustomed luxury. The old ones, however, are plenty good enough to keep smartly run Republic in the black and able to expand when most studios are cutting down. . . . For a chat on the old ones with Doris Davenport, Louise Campbell, and Lloyd Nolan.

Wednesday: For a chat with Glenn Ford, 24 year old juvenile of "Flotsam," and find him an engaging lad who is one of the few new youngsters to get into the movies thru action. His experience includes haberdashery, parachute-jumping and rôles in 150 little theater plays along the west coast . . . His real name, Gwyllyn, sounded too fancy to movie hotshots, so he had to change it . . . At a neighboring bistro for dinner, and across the way is Frank Morgan, who is interesting for two reasons. One, he is much handsomer, with his gray hair and gray mustache, than on the screen, even—and he's a pretty distinguished looking guy in the flickers. Two, he is gay and assertive—an amiable extrovert totally unlike the characters he plays.

Thursday: To Paramount to watch Bob Hope and Bing Crosby pose for a couple of scenes in "The Road to Zanzibar." I ask Hope, "What is the plot?" and he answers. "It's 'Rain Bites Back.'" Everybody seems to be having an easy good time, so it ought to be a pretty happy picture. . . . On the "New York Town" set Mary Martin is the heroine of a non-musical, and is doing a scene in a broadcasting studio called WOX . . . On the "Lady Eve" set Preston Sturges is bossing Barbara Stanwyck in a transparency shot of a race track. Miss Stanwyck, Henry Fonda, and half a hundred extras have to get excited at a race which is being run on the screen. It is not hard to do, for actors always can act, and besides Hollywood is so horse-daffy it would bet on the outcome of last year's Santa Anita newsreel.

Friday: To Metro, just to sit around and talk with the press crew, and in comes a pretty young thing named Kathryn Rohrer, a new M. G. M. hopeful. She was discovered by a scout while she was playing first base for the Bank of America softball team and is worth reviving the old gag about being the only first baseman a fellow ever hankered to make a date with. . . . To see a test of another young hopeful, the six foot, husky William Murphy. He was discovered by Mervyn Le Roy at Saratoga, N. Y., where he was a sort of janitor for the race track. . . . To the opera—Pinza, Sayao, Rethberg, and Stevens in "Figaro," and mighty fine.

Saturday: To Las Vegas, Nev., to find out why Hollywood people go there to get married, but go to Reno to get divorced.

New Orchestra Superlative in First Concert

BY CECIL SMITH.

When the final tally of the 1940-'41 musical season is made, yesterday's first concert in the Goodman theater by the newly formed Fine Art orchestra will, I am confident, loom large as one of the notable achievements of the year. The orchestra is, to be sure, new only in its conductor and in its special artistic aims, for the largest part of its excellent personnel is drawn from the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

But the concert yesterday bore at all times the imprint of the remarkable musical command of Nicolai Malko, who is to conduct the orchestra in a further series of five programs at the Goodman theater beginning in January, and in an additional series of ten concerts at the Amalgamated center, 333 South Ashland boulevard, beginning Friday.

At Ravinia last summer Mr. Malko had indicated the clarity and profundity of his musical insight. At that time, however, his programs were overloaded with works by Tschaikowsky, and many of his listeners wondered what he would do with a more catholic selection of materials.

Yesterday's concert, as beautifully played and as revealingly interpreted as the most captious listener could demand, presented Mr. Malko as indisputably one of the half dozen finest conductors this country knows. At some future time, when space is more generous, I hope to amplify this opinion.

Yesterday's superlative concert included Reger's orchestration for strings of Bach's "O Man, Bewail Thy Fearful Sin"; Mozart's "Haffner" symphony; the American première of Bohuslav Martinu's inventive "Tre Ricercari"; and Debussy's "The Prodigal Son," sung by a musicianly trio of artists—Agatha Lewis, soprano, Robert Long, tenor, and Edward Stack, baritone. The audience was small, but watch the crowds when the public learns about Mr. Malko and his orchestra.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Hybrid. And the first definition of that word given in my dictionary is "the offspring of a tame sow and a wild boar." Make what you like of it.

ACTING: It ain't.

DIRECTION. No—also.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SETS, SCENERY, ETC.: Ho hum.

MUSICAL BACKGROUND: Now there they have something. Not a great deal but—something.

STORY: Dirty work at the diamond diggings. In 1870.

REMARKS: The cheeild exhibits all the unfortunate traits of its mammy and its pappy. And it just runs wild. Sometimes you think several reels from several other movies have got in by mistake.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: It is my sincere opinion that the cinema under discussion possesses none of the perquisites necessary for enchanting the attention of either intellectuals or morons. [Me seeck.]

See you tomorrow.

Miss Anne Pontius Slated to Head Ladies of Isabella

The Ladies of Isabella are expected to elect Miss Anne M. Pontius supreme grand lady to succeed the late Mrs. Emma Huising Wall at the organization's 15th biennial convention today at the Stevens hotel. Mass at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, 718 West Adams street, will precede the all day meeting. Installation of supreme officers will follow a dinner this evening. Miss Pontius has been supreme vice grand lady of the organization for 16 years.

New Carmen Sings Tomorrow

The Story of Tonight's Operas

Jan Kiepura, Polish tenor, carries on his rehearsals for "Carmen" after receiving word that his best friend in Poland has been shot and killed. Details on page 7.

Here are synopses of the operas, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," to be presented tonight by the Chicago Opera company. It is suggested that persons unfamiliar with the stories, who are planning to attend the performances, clip them and take them with them to the Civic Opera house. It will greatly increase their enjoyment.

"CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA."

Opera in one act. Music by Pietro Mascagni. Libretto by G. Targioni-Tozzetti and G. Menasci after a story by G. Verga. The scene is laid in a Sicilian village square on an Easter Sunday in modern times.

Turiddu, a young soldier, is heard singing the praises of Lola, wife of Alfio, the teamster. Santuzza, a village girl whom Turiddu has loved and abandoned, comes to Turiddu's mother, Lucia, for news of him, but can obtain no information. Alfio enters, and informs Lucia that he has seen Turiddu early that morning in the village. Santuzza realizes that her one time lover has come back to court Lola. When Turiddu appears, Santuzza approaches him, but he spurns her and follows Lola into church. Santuzza now tells Alfio of his wife's infidelity. Later, Alfio challenges Turiddu to a duel with knives. They go off for the fray, and shortly thereafter news is brought back that Turiddu has been killed.

"PAGLIACCI."

Opera in two acts. Libretto and music by Ruggiero Leoncavallo. The scene is laid in an Italian village in modern times. Before the curtain rises Tonio, one of the players to be introduced later, sings a prolog declaring that the play to be given is based on real life.

Act. 1. Strolling players arrive in the village. Canio, the leader, starts to help his wife, Nedda, down from the cart, but Tonio, a clown, reaches Nedda before him. Canio boxes his ears. The villagers plant in Canio's mind the suspicion that Nedda is unfaithful to him. When Nedda is left alone on the stage she is approached again by Tonio, who tries to make love to her. Nedda strikes him with a whip, and he goes off vowing vengeance. Now Silvio, a villager, comes to Nedda to declare his love and to beg her to leave her husband and to come away with him. The two are surprised by Canio, who has been brought to the scene by Tonio. Silvio runs off before Canio has seen his face, and Nedda refuses to divulge the name of her lover to her husband. Now the time for the performance approaches and Canio, his heart breaking, enters the little theater.

Act. 2. The play which now begins is startlingly similar to the real life drama of the preceding act. Nedda, as Columbine, knowing that her husband will not be home until later, awaits her lover, Harlequin, but before he comes, the clown, Taddeo [played by Tonio] arrives and begins making love to her. When Harlequin does come, he leads Taddeo out by the ear. The lovers now make merry, but they are interrupted by Columbine's husband, Pagliaccio [played by Canio], returning home. Harlequin leaps out the window, and Pagliaccio demands to know who has been with her. By this time Canio has all but forgotten the fact that he is supposed to be enacting a story, and what he really demands of his wife is the name of the village lover of that afternoon. Nedda declares that she will not reveal his name even under the threat of death. Canio seizes her and plunges his dagger [a real one] into her heart. Silvio leaps from the audience to try to defend Nedda, and his action and appearance convince Canio that he was his wife's lover. He stabs him, then cries: "The comedy is ended!"

Gladys George Brings Laughs in Rapid Order

"LADY IN WAITING."

Comedy in three acts and seven scenes by Margery Sharp, based on her novel, "The Nutmeg Tree." Directed by Antoinette Perry. Settings by John Root. Presented by Brock Pemberton in the Harris theater, Sunday evening, Nov. 10, 1940.

THE CAST.

Julia Packett	Gladys George
Sir William Warring	Alan Napier
Susan Packett	Carol Curtis-Brown
Mrs. Packett	Lenore Chippendale

Willie Genocchio	Robert Breen
Joe Genocchio	Richard Gould
Bert Genocchio	George Spelvin
Griffin	Anita Bolster
Anthelmine	Michelette Burani
Burns	Paul A. Foley
Rogers	John Parrish

BY CECIL SMITH.

After a Hollywood detour much longer than most of us would have preferred, Gladys George has finally come back to the speaking stage, where she particularly belongs. I have no adequate knowledge of her film output, but I am sure that no roll of celluloid could properly catch the oddly fascinating quality of her comic temper, which is a unique mixture of childlike warm-heartedness with recklessness and spitfire audacity.

Without any prima donna tendency to try to wipe her supporting players off the map, Miss George makes "Lady in Waiting" overwhelmingly a vehicle for the virtuoso display of her gifts as a comedienne. In a part neatly provided with scenes, lines, and nifties perfectly tailored to her acute and rather garish style, she dominates her audience to a remarkable degree. She has a way of springing things out of the blue, so that one combustion of laughter follows another right thru to the final curtain.

No great significance attaches to the story of "Lady in Waiting," tho Miss Sharp has certainly contrived a stageworthy, economical, swift moving stage piece out of her novel, "The Nutmeg Tree." Miss George applies herself with gusto to the characterization of a woman whose life, when viewed in its particulars, is not too exacting in its standards, but whose heart is made of unrefined gold. Her background leans more toward the music hall than toward the more discreet ranges of culture in which her daughter has been brought up by an aristocratic grandmother. The reunion, after 15 years, of the mother with the daughter and grandmother precipitates a bagful of Miss George's most diverting gaucheries.

An expert cast lends credibility to Miss George's tribulations. Among the best characterizations are those of Alan Napier as the liberal minded lord who finally makes a lady of Miss George; Anita Bolster as a strong minded Cockney maid; Lenore Chippendale and Carol Curtis-Brown as the overcultured grandmother and daughter, and Ethel Morrison, who is utterly convulsing in a hilarious channel crossing scene, as a superannuated trapeze performer suffering from mal de mer.

Please do not expect "Lady in Waiting" to provide serious food for thought. And do not propose it as a suitable choice for the theater party of a Sunday school class. But if you approach it in free spirit it will give you a gay and headlong evening.

Luncheon Party in Moscow.

One of Dr. Frederick Stock's stories of his trip to Europe in 1939 to commission new work for the Chicago Symphony orchestra's golden jubilee year this year has to do with his stay in Moscow. There he looked up Nicolas Miaskovsky, the only modern composer who has written as many as 18 symphonies, and Miaskovsky invited him to luncheon. The Russian composer picked up Dr. Stock and his interpreter in his car—he is one of the men privileged to own a car in Russia—and the chauffeur drove them to the restaurant where they were to eat luncheon. To Dr. Stock's surprise, the chauffeur accompanied them into the restaurant and sat down to luncheon with them.

Miaskovsky's new work, Symphonic Fantasie, written especially for Dr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra, recently arrived in Chicago.

Deed for a Squirrel Baby.

[By Virginia Moe, assistant curator of the Trailside museum.]

Herewith is given unto Mary Louise and Lloyd Cardwell, one small man squirrel, known as LITTLEJOHN, weighing not more than a handful of acorns, and of a size not so large that it could not hide beneath an oak leaf, born sometime in the sign of Leo the Lion, in or around Thatcher woods in the forest preserve district and rescued from the jaws of a cat.

The conditions being that Littlejohn's humans do cherish him and raise him to be a good and gentle squirrel and do at all times strive to convert other humans to be the friends of him and his kind, which are, as the Norsemen have said, the messengers of the very gods themselves; that he shall never lack for sunshine, playtime, fresh water and fruits, succulent buds and twigs, and fine hard shelled nuts for the keeping of his coat, sleek, his teeth sharp, and his soul merry; that he shall always have a soft calico or woolen sleeping cloth; that none shall pity him, for it is the lot of certain forest folk to go and live among humans in order to teach them to better understand the children of the wild.

The world of a squirrel is very small at most. It is hoped that for the loss of his two and a half acre heritage he will find compensation in the well filled tummy, the well scratched tummy, and the tummy that knows not the terrors of the woods.

May the blessings of Pan be upon Littlejohn, the squirrel baby, and may he love and trust his humans.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A small menagerie came to life on the stage of the Civic Opera house yesterday when the Ballet Theatre presented Adolph Bolm's "Peter and the Wolf" for the first time in Chicago. Based on Serge Prokofieff's orchestral piece of the same name, the new ballet tells the story of the boy Peter, of his various friends and acquaintances among the animal kingdom, and of his success in catching the bad wolf.

Nina Stroganova, as the cat, was the most curious feline ever to be imagined outside the pages of "Alice in Wonderland." This cat was a more or less sardonic looker-on at all the events of the story. She had a way of stroking her whiskers with her soft-as-silk paw and seeming to point up every situation as it arose.

Kirsten Valbor, up until the time when David Nillo ate her, made a demure and lovely looking duck. Mr. Nillo, it should be explained, was the wolf of the story—and a frightening fellow if ever there was one. Alicia Alonso was as wise and gay a bird as a poet could imagine.

Among the human characters, swaggering little Peter was played by Eugene Loring, his rheumatic, garrumphing grandfather by Edward Caton. Donald Saddler had the slapstick part of First Hunter. Lucie Chase, a voice from backstage, gave a charmingly inflected account of the story's background. Alexander Smallens conducted.

Bolm's choreography, combined with Eugene Loring's stage direction and Lucinda Ballard's décor, gave the whole piece a fairy tale humor and effectiveness.

Ruggiero Ricci, a boy prodigy of yesteryear, now a young man who will be able to cast his first vote in a few months, returned to the Chicago concert platform yesterday for a violin recital in Orchestra hall.

Seldom has that experienced auditorium heard a more shining tone than Mr. Ricci coaxed out of his instrument in the Tartini sonata or a richer, easier one than he commanded in certain sections of his Bach. On the other hand, he sometimes betrayed the most curious disregard of tone—as in the cadenza of the first named work.

In general his playing was characterized by great vigor and intelligent phrasing.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving alone at night, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out getting blood on her skirt. She rushes from the cottage and runs into 32 year old Stephen Smedley, a young publisher, who because of a breakdown, has come to the country for rest. He lives in an old chapel near by. Rowan gets suspicious of him when he goes off for help and fails to return but when she starts out searching for him she stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the cottage, he collapses on the sofa where she lets him sleep while she goes to bed upstairs. She is awakened by Stephen entering her room holding a butcher knife. A sharp command from Rowan makes Stephen drop the knife and retreat downstairs, where she locks him up until morning. Finding his brief case, with a sealed letter and a manuscript about Russia, she decides to hide it under her window eave, with her bloody skirt. The next morning the body has disappeared and Stephen seeming to remember nothing of the knife episode, advises her not to mention finding the body as its disappearance might get them both into trouble. The dead man turns out to be Bertram Borge, no-good brother of the vicar who lives next door. Lord Romrytch and his secretary Forbes, also neighbors, help in the search for Borge. Rowan, planning to return Stephen's brief case, invites him for dinner and discovers the body in a cupboard. This time the police are notified and they find the body in a well. During the night Rowan is awakened by the pounding of typewriter keys, and typewritten notes are slipped under her door demanding the return of the brief case under penalty of death. She escapes to Stephen's chapel and sleeps on his cot. The next morning she finds her bedroom door locked by the police who are hunting evidence. Egbert, the caretaker, is arrested for the murder and it is learned that Bertram has assaulted Egbert's fiancée. Later Egbert is released and Scotland Yard is called in. Stephen disappears and Rowan, afraid the police might discover the hidden brief case and her bloody skirt, confesses her predicament to Lord Romrytch, who promises to help her recover them. Scotland Yard questions Rowan, hinting that she and Stephen are the murderers. While she is being questioned, she overhears the police report a suicide, which from their description, must be Stephen, tho it is only a trap by them to make her confess, for the man is Forbes, and the police hint that it was not a suicide but a second murder by Stephen.

INSTALMENT XLIX.

DESPERATE HUNT.

Rowan sat up in darkness. The brain for so long stuffed with cotton wool now pulsed like a road drill, giving her no peace.

"Lord Romrytch believes I'm innocent," she argued. "If not, would he have asked me here, at a time when any visitor would be an encumbrance?"

She put out her hand to touch the scentless, diaphanous orchids by her bed—tangible proof that she had, just a little too late, acquired one would-be supporter.

A pity she hadn't been able to wangle a private word with the chauffeur. She might have let Lord Romrytch know that altho other objects had been taken her bloodstained skirt was still waiting to be found. Not that the information could have altered the prospect if she hadn't added what she could never have foreseen—that the Yard men were going away and leaving only the local sergeant behind.

She had till morning, no longer. And these June nights were short.

In a few more hours it was perfectly clear what would happen. Still sticking to her lie she'd be packed off, under escort, to the Lydport gaol, there to be held while every inch of the house and surroundings was ruthlessly combed. Sooner or later search would reveal the thing destined to rip her whole testimony to rags—her own green tweed skirt, the skirt she had worn when she arrived at Garch's Corners, tucked where no eye could see. Why? Because it was stiff-dabbled with a murdered man's blood.

It might have been found before, only this shrouding mist had suspended operations. It was thanks to the vagaries of English climate that she was spending one more night in a fragrant nest and not in a disinfectant-reeking cell. Or no—perhaps it wasn't. The inspector might have tried to knock holes in her story, but not till after the vicar had been here with Sergt. Dabney snatching at every whisper she uttered had he pounced down on her with single, iron-clad purpose.

Her feelings had undergone a drastic change. All the softness within, reaching a climax when she had believed Stephen dead, had been slowly but definitely turning to steel. In the rush of thankfulness at knowing the man in the car to be Forbes and not Stephen her heart had sung anthems. It was as the tortuous hours dragged onward and still Stephen hadn't turned up that her ideas had become as they now were—crystal clear, flint edged.

Stephen could have saved himself without making a scapegoat of her. He might argue that she, being a woman, might skin out on a plea of self-defense. Manslaughter, she understood, carried only a sentence of some years.

"Long enough to wreck my life, of course. O, but it would be merely my life! Not his."

Utter rubbish, all the same, this coupling Stephen with Forbes' death. Forbes had simply found himself in a cleft stick, job gone, powerless to refute the charges hurled at him while the proofs of his perfidy were still at large. He had tried frantically to find his precious papers and realized he was foiled. That explained his sick, pasty pallor as he had crawled away from here under the sergeant's eye; but ash on the seat! A garage hand could have left that. As for the second car in his wake, well, motorists were always taking wrong turns along these narrow, confusing lanes.

Yellow streak, or white feather? There wasn't much choice.

Till morning . . .

How dark it was, and how cold! No one had troubled to close the window before she had slunk up and begun dragging off her clothes. The very blankets were clammy from the mist, tho this seemed to be breaking up, for out of doors there was just enough strange lunary glow to show an occasional shrub stabbing thru the shimmer of white gauze. Soon, shatteringly soon, the sun would make a clean sweep of the lot. Birds would start their brazen chatter. Inspector Headcorn would be back.

"But it's not daylight yet! I've got till then. They'll arrest me, that's a certainty, but if nothing's found they'll have to turn me loose again. They're only guessing about these papers. Have I the guts to make a try?"

What she wouldn't have was the chance. After this evening the sergeant had probably been instructed to lock her in, a paralyzing move which hadn't occurred to her before. She had been too crushed, too swamped, to notice if the key had been softly turned.

She was out of bed, the rug sliding under her bare feet as she stole noiselessly to the door. The knob turned freely. Not locked! Rather surprising, all considered, but then she had a gaoler on each side.

As she hung there, ears strained, a submerged thought rose to the surface. The vicar! He'd been desperate, too. With every chance to denounce her to the inspector he had avoided the imminent encounter and simply faded off into the fog. So his threats had been all bluff. He had never meant to advertise those papers. Why? The answer was obvious. Because he meant to have another try for them himself!

"Good God, of course! He's waiting, like me, making certain every one's asleep. He's going to come back . . ."

This clinched it. She must beat him to the thatch, that was all. The brief case might be there and again it might not, but her skirt undoubtedly remained. If the vicar discovered it and nothing else, well, he would leave it stuck in the hole, with the same callousness which the former thief had displayed.

Close at hand two subterranean sounds arose, making a queer, sotto voce duet. Sarah Yallee, in the right hand bedroom, had her head under the covers, to judge by the muffled sputter and hiss. Sergt. Dabney, in the left hand one, delivered himself of a deep, baritone grunt, repeated at regular intervals.

It seemed too good to be true. Could she slide out without rousing either slumberer?

"Watch me," she gritted, and in another instant had slipped her icy arms into Hazel's sumptuous negligee and girded the sash firmly 'round her middle.

Useless, of course. Locating her tennis shoes, she worked her feet in. Sergt. Dabney would have taken the front door key to bed with him. Worth attempting, nevertheless. She could hardly make matters worse . . .

Now!

Breath held, edging one shrinking step at a time, she reached the dim stairhead. She sat down, sounding each tread before committing herself to the next. Sergt. Dabney had uttered a snort, prelude to a complete, sinster hush. She waited, all primed if he came forth to plead hunger and a sortie for food. And then, after five full minutes of tension, renewed snores sent her once more on her snail's progress downstairs.

The bottom! Warmth and stale air seeping thru from the drawing room. The mirror giving back a ghostly reflection. Little squeaks from unseen portions of the house—not mice, not humans, she thought—just the ticking of old timber.

Her fingers smoothing the oak panels, tracking down the keyhole.

The big key! It was here.

GASOLINE ALLEY—CALL ON ME ANYTIME

Mrs. Henry C. Murphy and Mrs. Frank M. Gordon will act as hostesses. Mrs. Leo Nicolson is general chairman of the committee handling the benefits.

Miss Priscilla Armstrong will be commentator and Miss Joan Littlefield will be in charge of the debutantes who will be the mannequins, displaying articles made by the shut-ins. Among those who have reserved tables are Mrs. James R. Offield, Mrs. William C. Jackson, Mrs. Lawrence Viles, Mrs. Daniel Green, Mrs. Britton I. Budd, Mrs. Frank S. Porter, and Mrs. Joseph Stenson.

Passavant Tea Guests to Meet Opera Singers.

The members of the Woman's Aid society of the Passavant hospital are going to have an opportunity to meet the cast of "Salome" and the dancers who will dance in "Swan Lake" at a tea that Mrs. Henry Field and Mrs. Loyal Davis will give on Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock at Mrs. Davis' home, 199 Lake Shore drive. The society is sponsoring a performance of the opera and the ballet on Thanksgiving night as its annual benefit.

Marjorie Lawrence, who is to sing the name part of the opera; Karin Branzell, José Mojica, and George Czaplicki will be the opera stars at the tea, and Anton Dolin, Nana Gollner, Karen Conrad, Nina Stroganova, and Leon Danielian will be the dancers. Alexander Smallens, director of the Ballet Theatre orchestra, also will be a guest.

Stagefolk to Attend Drama League Meeting.

Members of the Chicago Drama league who attend the meeting at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Arts club will not only have the opportunity of hearing Paul Leyssac read Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," but also of meeting Gladys George, Alan Napier and members of the cast of "Lady in Waiting," which opened last night at the Harris theater.

The league and auxiliary of St. James' Episcopal church will hold its annual bazar next Tuesday at the parish house, 666 Rush street. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon and there will be a buffet supper from 6 until 8 o'clock. Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler is chairman of the committee in charge with Mrs. F. Hartley Postlethwaite as co-chairman. Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson heads the committee making the famous mince meat sold each year at the bazar.

Sixteen organizations in which Clifford W. Barnes has had an active and leading part for the last 40 years will give a testimonial luncheon for him in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House, on Thursday, Nov. 28, at 12:30 o'clock. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. will preside and the speakers will be Arthur R. Compton, representing the University of Chicago for the educational interests; Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce for the civic interests; and the Rev. Ralph Wakefield, president of the church federation, for the religious interests.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Tatman have returned from an eastern trip, during which they attended a reunion of their Cape Cod summer neighbors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Day in Newton, Mass.

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. McKinnon of Detroit, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Patterson, to C. Marshall Rogers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Evanston. Miss McKinnon just has completed a course in interior decorating at the University of Michigan. Her fiancé was graduated from the University of Michigan engineering school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde D. Foster of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith Mary, to Jack Hicks, son of Mrs. E. John Hicks of Kenilworth. Miss Foster attended Penn Hall and was graduated from Northwestern university. Mr. Hicks attended Duke university and Lehigh university. The wedding will take place early next year.

Low Physical Tone Creates Fear in Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It has been said that a person who has a nervous breakdown, or who is in a mental state that predisposes him to fearfulness, may fix upon almost anything as an object for fear. And that, if he is argued out of that particular one, his emotional state will make him fix upon something else to be afraid of.

Sometimes we see this in a mild form in children. A little boy will draw back from every unfamiliar experience with fear. He may show timidity where he hasn't shown it before. He may cry at the prospect of going to the dentist, or when you go out and leave him. You may notice a number of fears or a general apprehensiveness. And, of course, it distresses you.

If you observe that your child is in such a state it is an excellent plan to look well into his physical condition, his general physical condition. Low physical tone often manifests itself in nervousness, and when the organism is in that state a child is predisposed to fear. On the other hand, a child who is "top notch" is not inclined to general fearfulness.

So, a health examination is suggested. Then, if nothing specific is found to be wrong, let your doctor decide whether he thinks your child is in a state of positive health, because just discovering that no one thing is wrong is decidedly not enough.

To help our children to live heartily and happily and in a normal frame of mind we should try to obtain for them positive, abundant health. To accomplish this we should look to their food and their rest as well as to their exercise, fresh air, their busyness and their diversion. Frequently a special emphasis on certain vitamins is needed, either in the form of food or the various preparations put out by laboratories.

Pattern of Many Purposes

JACKET, JERKIN AND BOLERO.

A pattern that serves many purposes is a good one to have. With today's design you may make a jerkin to wear over blouses and sweaters; a bolero to keep one-piece dresses company; and a button-down-the-front jacket to make a suit of your woolen skirt. All styles are illustrated, including that for a perky feathered hat, No. 3466, available for 10 cents extra and in one adaptable head size only.

Style No. 2615 is designed for sizes 12, 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires ⅞ yard of 54 inch material for jerkin; 1¾ yards for jacket; 1⅜ yards of 39 inch for bolero.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the fall and winter Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

There are so many good kinds of stuffing for the Thanksgiving turkey, chicken, duck, or goose that it is difficult to decide among them. Many of us feel that it is hard to beat the good old-fashioned bread, celery, and onion stuffing which we were brought up to expect on Sundays and at holiday time but, even so, we like a change now and then, particularly at Thanksgiving.

Today's column and tomorrow's will contain recipes for various kinds of dressing which are suitable for that shining brown bird which is going to dominate our harvest festival table.

Cornbread Stuffing for Chicken.
[5 Pound Roaster.]
1 cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped parsley
6 tablespoons butter
4 cups cornbread crumbs
Salt, pepper, thyme

Cook celery, onion, and parsley in butter for several minutes, then add to crumbs with salt and pepper to taste. About a fourth teaspoon thyme will add greatly to the flavor. For more dressing to bake separately double the recipe, and to the extra half add a beaten egg and water or broth from cooking the giblets.

Apple, Prune and Nut Filling.
[For Goose or Duck.]
6 apples, quartered
½ pound prunes, soaked and pitted
½ cup blanched almonds

Combine the three ingredients and fill the goose or duck.

[For 12-16 Pound Turkey.]
1½ pound loaf stale bread
½ pound butter
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sage
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
Hot water or broth to moisten

Trim crusts from bread and cut it into inch cubes. Add butter, cut in small pieces, seasonings, onion and celery. Add just enough hot water or broth to moisten slightly. The dressing should be fluffy.

Orange Stuffing for Duck.
3 cups fine dry crumbs
1 cup finely diced apple
½ cup seedless raisins
3 tablespoons sugar
½ cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
¼ cup melted butter
Salt, pepper

Mix ingredients, adding salt and pepper to taste. If the crumbs are very dry, add a little more orange juice.

Dress Parade Clothes Take Shopper's Eye

BY REA SEEGER.

Susceptible shoppers are having a time trying to pass by the new dress parade clothes. There's something definitely wrong with any woman who doesn't yearn over romantic ball gowns—this year more than ever. Filmy layers of net and tulle, flounces of lace, silken taffetas, handsome brocades, shimmering lengths of metallics and lamé, embroidered bands of rhinestones, spangles, sequins, applique, and those breath taking streamlined gowns of silk jersey, are enough to captivate the most hardened shopper.

There is another good reason for going dress parade this winter. Men for the first time in seasons have suddenly been bitten by the urge of swanking it about the town in tails and high hats. To keep even the women have the alibi of a lifetime. Velvet and silks rustle around, jersey and lamé cling revealingly to the figurelines and the bouffant dresses are as excitingly frothy as anything you could desire.

Practical minded clothes collectors are completely sold on the gown and evening jacket combine. These jackets blaze either with dark, bright or pastels. Some of them are covered with embroidery, sequins, cutout work in gold or silver kidskin or shine with braid.

New this winter are the sleeveless jerkins. Slide into a dull dark sheath dress and then pull on one of these jerkins. The result is blinding. For instance, flame red outlined with a two inch band of sequins around the armholes and the vee neckline and around the lower edge, or pale banana colored wool glittering with gold beads, turquoise wool with seed pearl embroidery, gay green with jet, and the newest excitement, tortoise shell colored sequins sewed in graceful patterns against light beige. These evening toppers surpass any collection ever unpacked for sleuthing shoppers and they're going out into circulation with speed and snap.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

LAST MONDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 35: You are West, declarer at a seven diamond contract. [The opponents made no bid.] Your hand and dummy are as follows:

West [declarer]	East [dummy]
♠ 8 3	♠ A 9
♥ K 4 2	♥ A J 7 5 3
♦ A K 10 8 5 4 3 2	♦ Q J 9 7
♣ None	♣ A 6

North leads the club king. If you win with dummy's ace, what card do you discard from your own hand, and why?

Answer: A low heart. To discard a spade would be to risk your contract on a successful finesse or guess for the heart queen. The heart discard absolutely guarantees your contract unless South has all five of the missing hearts [in which case no line of play could be successful]. After discarding the heart, you draw the one outstanding trump, then cash the heart king. If both defenders follow suit, you now lead to the heart ace and ruff a heart, later ruffing another heart, if necessary. You thereby establish a long heart on which to discard your only losing spade. [No demerits for a spade discard, but if you discarded a heart, with the right reason, take 20 points CREDIT.]

Today's Hand

East, dealer.

NORTH
♠ A K 7 5
♦ K J 9 2
♣ K 8 6 3

WEST
♠ J 10 6 4
♥ K Q 7 6 3

EAST
♥ None
♦ A Q 8 7 5 3

SOUTH
♠ Q 8
♥ A J 10 9 8 5 4
♦ 10 4

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	1 heart	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	2 hearts	Pass	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	3 hearts	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened his singleton diamond, dummy ducked, East won with the queen, and declarer promptly false-carded with the ten spot. Now East was naturally unwilling to lay down the diamond ace and risk a ruff by South. For all he could tell, the missing four spot might be in the West hand. Hence, East made the apparently safe return of a spade to his partner's bid. Declarer won with the queen and, to try out the trump situation, led the eight spot. West could afford to duck this and did so, feeling that his partner might possibly have a blank honor. Now declarer entered dummy with a spade and discarded a club on dummy's other spade honor. This, as will be seen, was a highly important and very shrewd choice of discards. Dummy's last spade now was ruffed, and declarer then led his remaining club to dummy's king. East pounced on this with the ace and, just as South had hoped, sent back the queen of clubs. The stage was finally set! Declarer ruffed and now, down to the A-J-10-9 of trumps and one diamond, led the trump jack. West won with the queen and exited with his only safe card, a club. Declarer ruffed with the nine and triumphantly made his own grand exit play, the diamond. West, who had nothing but trumps at this point, was forced to ruff his own partner's trick and had to return a trump from the K-7 to declarer's A-10.

It should be noted that East could have saved the ship by returning a diamond instead of the club queen, but this in no way detracts from the brilliance of declarer's play.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Nov. 11, 1940.

Universal day—This date is a historic one and if we look at the numbers which are a part of it we can see some signficance in the fact that it is the 11th month and the 11th day, and it was at 11 o'clock that the armistice was declared which made it a momentous day in history. A special significance also may be seen in the number 11 when we recall the much used phrase, "the 11th hour." Help, rescue, or release come at the 11th hour.

The two 11s this year are combined with the five of the universal year, making this a nine day, the culmination of a short cycle.

Year ahead—If this is your birthday, say good-by to the recent past and be prepared to face new issues.

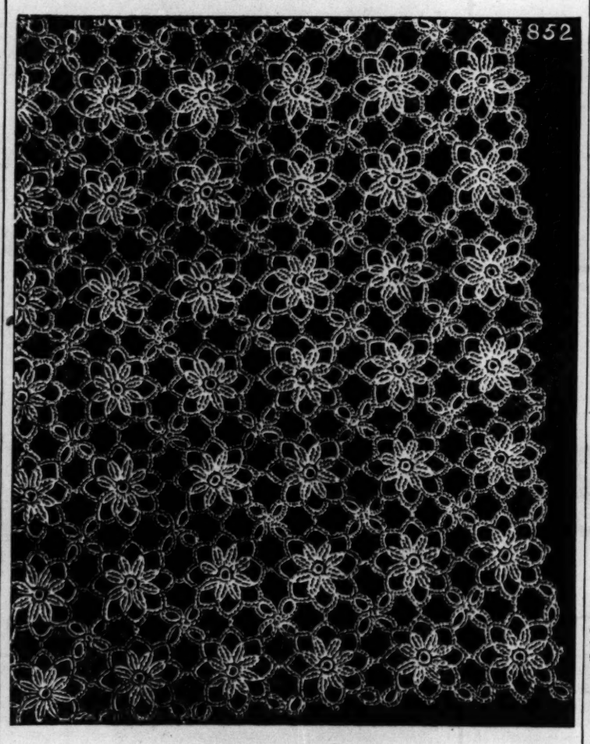
Petunia Motif for Doily



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Petal and cluster stitches are enjoying wide popularity with crochet workers this season. These stitches are by no means new, but are being revived. This original petunia motif is quickly worked up and creates an ideal luncheon doily. Ivory mercerized crochet cotton is the suggested medium for luncheon sets. If runners or dresser scarfs are desired, one of the fine threads may be used.

For instructions in crocheting the petunia motif for a luncheon doily, No. 852, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

A "perfumery depot" opened its doors in 1847 in Cincinnati to serve the ladies and gentlemen of what was then the largest city west of Philadelphia. Travelers by steamboat and stage bought toilet water in surprising quantities and many a pioneer woman tucked a little bottle of ultra-feminine perfume in with her quilts and pots and pans.

Some of those perfume formulas are still being made, and to commemorate this starting point of tradition in the toilet goods industry in this country the descendents of the depot's founder have brought out a unique gift box this year.

The cover of the box is decorated with a scene that reproduces the perfumery depot of so long ago, with authentically costumed strollers peering into its windows. In the box the window is transparent, revealing three quaint little flacons of perfume. The flacons are in the center. Grouped around them inside the box are three charming bath glorifiers, a bottle of cologne in a lovely colonial type bottle, a fat cake of soap and a cylinder of talcum. All three are in the same fragrance, a different, old fashioned bouquet with the nice name of "brocade."

The preparations are excellent. Naturally, a house that has survived the hurly-burly of the cosmetic industry for so long has made quality one of its soundest props. The soap is bland and well scented, the cologne perfectly delightful. All in all this makes one of the most charming of gifts—and it isn't very costly.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 10.—The bubble of Bear supremacy, punctured by a four yard touchdown pass in the last twenty-six seconds of play, burst in the University of Detroit's stadium this bleak, miserable afternoon.

Rookie Cotton Price, a wiry, quick-triggered Texan, brought to the Detroit Lions by their new owner, Fred Mandel, fired the pass into the arms of Lloyd Cardwell to give the Lions a 17 to 14 victory over the Western division leaders of the National Football league.

Starting wide to his right as if bent on outrunning a desperate Bear defense in a race for the corner of the field, Price stopped along the sideline and rifled the ball waist high past Jack Manders. Manders slapped at it, but missed in the murky mist that shrouded the gridiron today. High on the stadium scoreboard then went the numbers that dropped the Chicagoans into defeat for the second time this season.

Completes Nine of 12 Passes.

Thus a new passing hero made his mark in the league on an afternoon that saw Chicago's mediocrity and an embattled band of Lions catch up with the Bears. Price played only 12 minutes, relieving Whizzer White early in the fourth period. He threw 12 passes, completed nine and brought to 23 his total number of completions in 32 attempts during the last three games.

The cheers of 21,735 rent the air for Price as he left the field.

The Bears opened the game by kicking off out of bounds and being pushed back to their 22 yard line where Capt. Chuck Hanneman missed a field goal. A few minutes later the Bears were trailing, 3 to 0, on a place kick by Hanneman from the 30 yard line.

Bears Take Lead, 7 to 3.

The Bears managed to march thirty-three yards early in the second period to score on a three yard reverse by Rookie Ray McLean and lead, 7 to 3, on Manders' extra point. But before they got this touchdown they had marched seventy-yards only to fail six inches from a touchdown on the last play of the first period. In this march they had a first down on the 5 yard line. With the lead theirs for the first time, they marched back again to earn a first down on the 1 yard line. But after three downs they were still inches from the goal.

Detroit forged ahead in the third quarter on White's four yard plunge and Hanneman's extra point, but the Lions' lead was short lived. Gary Famiglietti swept wide around Detroit's left end for five yards and Sid Luckman passed to McLean for the extra point, after Manders' kick had been blocked. The Bears led 14 to 10 at the end of the third quarter and were still leading when Price came in. From this point they were on the defensive.

Bears Score in Nine Plays.

At the start of the second quarter, Harry Clark returned White's punt-out thirteen yards to Detroit's 33 yard line and the Bears scored in nine plays.

With a first down on the 5 yard line, Luckman called Clark thru the right side of the Lions' line on a quick opening play. Clark got two yards. On second down, Luckman called a play that started out as a duplicate of the preceding one, but after faking the ball to Clark, who crashed into the line, Luckman lateraled to McLean, who went wide around the right end for the touchdown. Manders replaced John Siegal and added the extra point.

Detroit Takes Lead Again.

The Lions were next to score, getting the opportunity on Bob Swisher's fumble at the start of the third period. Before they were able to advance the necessary fifty-four yards, they surrendered the ball on Dave

'Twas a Bad Day for Chicago's Bears and Cards

Packers Rout Cardinals, 28-7, with a Fourth Quarter Surge

The Chicago Cardinals, identified by the experts as the Voice of the Cellar in the National Football league, were quite audible and resonant thruout the first three quarters of their contest yesterday afternoon in Comiskey park. They were heard so well by their deeds that they trailed the vaunted Green Bay Packers by a paltry seven points, having come from behind in the second quarter to equalize the first period touchdown and conversion of the Packers, only to go to their half time rest behind, 14 to 7.

Just as the fourth quarter started, another voice, that of the announcer, came from the field microphone. He intoned in his usual carrying baritone that the Chicago Bears had just been defeated by the Detroit Lions.

New Hope for Packers.

This announcement of the Bear defeat reacted on the Green Bay gents like an electric shock. Before the game was over they had scored 14 more points and essayed a field goal try for their eventual winning margin of 28 to 7 before 11,364. The day's events kept alive the Packers' hopes of beating out the Bears for the western division title.

The Cardinals proved quite annoying thru most of the first half, and it looked for a time as tho they might be capable of sustaining their unbeaten Comiskey park record. Then the Packers started a 65 yard drive in which Andy Uram and Frank Balasz were the leading factors. The Green Bay parties stuck to the ground thru most of this, but it was one of Herber's swift curves to Hinkle at the left side of the end zone, which produced the first Packer score.

Cards Bounce Back.

Five and one-half minutes later, in the first minute of the second quarter, the Cards tied the score. Hinkle kicked off out of bounds, following his own score, and the Cardinals, taking the ball on their own 45, started marching. Marshall Goldberg and John Hall toted the ball to the Green Bay 34 yard mark in three plays, and then Hugh McCullough, on a fake plunge, shoveled the ball to Goldberg, who went to the Packer 28. Hall and Goldberg then joined with McCullough in moving it up to the Packer 14 yard line as the quarter ended.

Hall cut in over his own left guard for three yards and after Goldberg picked up a yard, McCullough fired the ball over the line to Al Coppage on the 1 yard line, then carried it over himself on the next play. Lou Zontini kicked the extra point.

The Packers went ahead with nine minutes of the half remaining, altho

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, the two handsome and able leaders of six day bicycle racing in these United States for the last few years, last night found themselves the target of a bewheeled putsch by 10 other willing pairs of athletes as the 43d international ride to nowhere got under way at 9 o'clock in the Chicago Stadium before 12,000.

Gus and Heinie, the lads who grew up as next door neighbors in Dortmund, Germany, have become dictators of the six day competitions to such an extent that they have won 26 races in this country, 5 of them in Chicago. There are those among their rivals, older and younger, who still feel that the German duo is not the best in the world, and aim to spend the next six days proving same.

The Lads Get an Ovation.

The Kilian-Vopel team has its following in the current journey, as demonstrated last night when Harry Mendel, the impresario, grandly announced them before three Hollywood

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 10 (AP).—The Chicago Blackhawks, skating their fastest in the third period, made their second National Hockey league start a successful one tonight, defeating the Montreal Canadiens, 3 to 1, before 9,762 fans. It was Montreal's first setback in two games.

The Canadiens held the Hawks even thru the first two periods having a particular edge in the first period, when Tony Demers rifled home their only goal on an individual play. The first Chicago goal, tying the game, came at 14 minutes in the second period when Bill Thoms combined with Johnny Chad in a passing play that allowed Chad to beat the Montreal defense and then lift the puck past Goalie Bert Gardiner of the Canadiens.

Carse, March Break Thru.

In the third period, Bill Carse and Mush March broke the Canadiens' defense and Carse sent the Hawks ahead with a well placed shot at 9:31. The third Chicago goal went to George Allen, who lifted a drifter from outside the blue line that caught Gardiner napping.

The Blackhawks do not return to Chicago until next Sunday when their foes again are the Canadiens. On Tuesday they invade Boston to meet the Bruins and Thursday engage the Americans in New York.

The Canadiens took the lead at 17:50 on a nice piece of work by Demers. The right winger broke up a play at the Chicago blue line, feinted Portland out of position, and then let go a hard shot from about 20 feet. Goodman did not move as the puck went half way up into the net.

The Hawks evened the score on a neat combination play in the second period. The goal went to Chad in 14 minutes after Thoms had set up the scoring chance with a pass that took both Canadiens' defense men, Young and Goupille, out of the play.

Hawks Go Into Lead.

A little before the half way mark in the third period the Hawks took the lead. The goal came at 9:31, after March had missed by inches. A moment later March was back, this time setting up Bill Carse. Carse, taking his time, lifted the puck over Gardiner as the Canadiens' goalie fell a bit too soon.

Gardiner fanned badly on a long shot at 14:46, missing when Allen let go a drifter from outside the blue line. March was given an assist for a center zone pass. Demers had two shots at Goodman in the final two minutes, but the Chicago goalie handled them both nicely.

Thank You!

The supply of 1940 Wake of the News Books is exhausted. Two extra editions were required to meet the demand and no more will be printed. We appreciate the reader interest, but most of all, our thanks to the many contributors whose efforts helped to make the 1940 volume so popular.

It May Be.

In days agone you were a soulful creature,
Your eyes were founts of human sympathy,
Beauty was written deep in every feature,
You were the shrine of my idolatry;
You always shared my grief when I was lonely,
And bubbled with delight when I was gay,
Of all my childhood friends you were the only
Truly unselfish one that crossed my way.

How strange that life our destinies should sever!
How odd we should be swept so far apart!
And yet your loveliness grows fairer ever
In the sequestered garden of my heart;
And it may be that at the twilight hour

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—The Washington Redskins suffered their first loss of the National Football league season today, succumbing to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 16 to 14, before 33,846 howling fans in Ebbets field. After scoring seven straight victories the Washington eleven was beaten because its speedy back, Dick Todd, was tackled behind the goal line for a safety in the second quarter.

Thus vanished the chance of the Redskins to be the first eastern team to complete its National league schedule without a defeat. Trailing, 16 to 0, at the end of the third quarter, Washington scored twice in the final period behind Sammy Baugh's passes.

Baugh completed 23 aerials to shatter the former professional record of 21 set by his old Texas Christian teammate, Davey O'Brien, now of the Philadelphia Eagles. But even a stunt such as this was not sufficient to head off the Dodgers.

Parker Has a Big Day.

Washington, backed by its 100 piece band, rolled up 20 first downs to Brooklyn's 7 and was charging down the field most of the clear, crisp afternoon. Yet at the crucial moments Brooklyn seemed always to be intercepting a Redskin pass, and when this wasn't happening Ace Parker was running thru and around the Redskins.

George Cafego prepared the way for Brooklyn's first touchdown in the first quarter when he brought one of Baugh's passes back 23 yards to Washington's 20. Parker whipped a pass to Waddy Young for ten yards. Waddy was tackled, but just as he was about to go down he reached up and flipped the ball to Rhoten Shetley, who ran across the goal line.

Todd Tackled for Two Points.

Brooklyn scored its next two points in the second quarter. Sam Francis punted out on Washington's 8 yard mark. Todd elected to run it out, received a poor pass from center and was spilled for a safety.

Cafego sparked the drive for a second touchdown in the third quarter when he caught one of Baugh's punts on the run and zigzagged his way back 18 yards to midfield.

A penalty against Washington for pass interference took the ball to the 36. Then Cafego faded back and hurled a pass to Parker. He dashed the last ten yards over the line. Parker kicked the extra point and the Dodgers were leading, 16 to 0.

That was the way it remained until twelve minutes were left of the last quarter. The 5,000 fans up from Washington were beginning to wonder if Baugh and his mates were going to be shut out.

Redskins Come to Life.

Then, when it was too late, they saw Washington's attack strike home twice. First the Redskins went eighty-seven yards, with Baugh pegging an eighteen yard pass to Bob Masterson for the score. Then, the next time they got the ball, the Redskins charged for fifty-four yards on seven plays, with Bob Seymour plunging the final foot for the score. Each time Bob Masterson place kicked the extra point. Statistics:

OPEN WEST SIDE C. Y. O. BOXING TRIALS TONIGHT

25 Bouts Scheduled in St. Mel's Gymnasium.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

West side amateur boxers, who stood by while south section representatives were being determined last week in the opening of the 10th annual Catholic Youth organization tournament, will have a chance to distinguish themselves tonight in preliminary bouts in St. Mel's gymnasium, 4320 Madison street. Paddy Kane, C. Y. O. official, said approximately 25 contests will be held in almost every weight. Three classes —open, novice, and beginners—will be represented.

Qualifiers, who will be chosen in tomorrow night's bouts, will advance to the quarter-finals in C. Y. O. center Nov. 19. Winners then will join others from the south, north, and suburban centers in the semi-finals, scheduled for the C. Y. O. gym Nov. 25 and 26. Finals will be in the Coliseum Dec. 4.

They Are a Hardy Lot.

The west side, a heavy contributor of good fighters in previous years, will run true to form in the sectional event starting this evening. There are quite a few fighters with class, including Al Noto, flyweight, and Isaish Wells, middleweight, who won 1939 championships. Casmir Ostowski, rugged Cicero battler, will seek a qualifying berth as a flyweight. His chances of achieving this goal are bright because Noto has deserted the 112 pound division to compete for a bantamweight title.

Other strong candidates include O. D. Thomas, hard hitting featherweight, and Harry Sparrow, finalist last year, and Bud Ryan, welterweights; Blaze Zorich, rugged light heavyweight, and Johnny Relles, 1938 C. Y. O. novice heavyweight title holder.

Thomas Has a Punch.

Thomas will have the skillful Frank Bausone, experienced fighter of St. Mel parish, as a rival. Thomas stepped into the limelight a few weeks ago when he scored an upset by stopping Bausone in a club fight in Evanston in the second round. Inasmuch as Frank also is a west side contestant the rivalry between these boys will be furious if they meet again.

Chmielewski, Bolden Box in Bout Tonight

Henry Chmielewski, recognized as the seventh leading middleweight contender by the National Boxing association, and Nate Bolden, perennial south side challenger, will engage in a 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace streets, tonight.

Bolden will attempt to solve a tough problem against his foe from Poland. The enigma is to stop Chmielewski's busy body offensive with a standup style known to lack the technique necessary to cope with infighting.

Chmielewski earned his N. B. A. rating by an upset triumph scored over Georgie Abrams of Washington, D. C., in Milwaukee on Sept. 9. Prior to this notable achievement Henry made a success of his professional debut in Chicago by conquering Jimmy Sheppard last June 28. In his latest appearance, Chmielewski lost a close decision to Tony [Cianciola] Martin, Wisconsin 160 pound titleholder, also in Milwaukee, Oct. 28.

Pete Ferrand, junior welterweight stablemate of Middleweight Champion Tony Zale, is paired with Harvey Dubs of Windsor, Ont., in a four round semi-final. Ferrand, who has not boxed since losing to Gordon Drake six months ago, may have an eight pound weight advantage over Dubs. Other matches, each set for four rounds, bring together Milt Kellis, Milwaukee 155 pounder, and Sammy Secreet; Art Ehrlich, Peoria lightweight, and Matt Milovich, and Joe Dupont, Chicago, 137 pounder, and Eu Eulien.

Ralph [Ruffy] Silverstein, west side heavyweight wrestler, will meet Jack [Bad Boy] Brown tonight in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. If he throws Brown within 30 minutes Ruffy then will face a second foe in Rufus Jones. Silverstein will not oppose Jones if Brown goes the scheduled half hour, but Promoter Fred Kohler is confident Ruffy will receive an opportunity to encounter both men. Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois athletic commission granted permission for the unusual event because wrestling matches are exhibitions in this state. Other engagements:

actresses — Brenda Joyce, Binnie Barnes, and Ilona Massey—fired the three pistols which sent them on their way. At the first mention of their names by Mr. Mendel, a stirring cheer bounced off of the stadium rafters. Whether it was generated by the faithful Teuton audience from Milwaukee, North and Lincoln avenues, or whether it was just a unanimous tribute to the boys' proven ability, remains to be seen.

Peden, Yates Cheered.

Kilian and Vopel were the penultimate team introduced. The final one consisted of a big redhead named Torchy Peden, of whom you may have heard, he having won 36 races, more than any other rider in the world, and his colleague, speedy Cecil Yates of Chicago's south side. It also remains to be discovered, come Saturday night, whether the clientele was cheering Torchy because he's just good, or Cecil, because he comes from our south side, and is good, too.

Freddie Ottevaere went into the lead for the first lap, after which Charles Yaccino, former C. Y. O. amateur light, went ahead. There were those in the audience who were on the verge of taking up a collection for a new brace of tires for Master Charles, seeing as how he came down with five blowouts before 11 o'clock.

Mr. Yates Collects.

It was fitting, shortly after the race started, that Yates, rated the best rider Chicago has produced since Carl Stockholm, should win the first premium of the evening, offered, incidentally by this same Carl Stockholm.

Charley Bergna took it upon himself to organize the first jam of the race within the first 10 minutes, but it came to no profit, the winners of the congestion being Doug Peden, Torchy's little brother, and his partner, Archie Bollaert. Results of the sprints:

275,000 Open State Hunting Season in Rain

Illinois' second Fourth of July of the year was celebrated yesterday by approximately 275,000 hunters who used shotgun shells instead of firecrackers as noisemakers. It was the opening of the 1940 upland game season, and in the Chicago area, as well as downstate, sportsmen were stalking pheasants, rabbits, and quail.

Game wardens estimated there were between 40,000 and 50,000 hunters within a radius of 50 miles surrounding Chicago. From 3 until 6 o'clock yesterday morning there were almost continuous streams of cars from Chicago and suburbs heading out the Northwest highway, Skokie highway, North avenue, Roosevelt road, Southwest highway, and other roads.

Hunters Are Everywhere.

The main concentration of hunters was in Lake county surrounding the Fox lake chain, but almost every field in Cook county outside the city and suburbs was heavily combed. Du Page, Will, and Kendall counties also got in on the opening day bombardment.

Most Chicago hunters were after pheasants, but many were disappointed as a result of the drizzly weather. Pheasants buried themselves in heavy cover and would not move until almost stepped on. Hunters with bird dogs had much better success.

The Law Has a Busy Day.

The heavy turnout provided game wardens and sheriffs' forces plenty of activity. A number of arrests were made in Lake county, the major offenses being trespassing, shooting without a license, and shooting hen pheasants. The sheriff's office of Du Page county reported that 20 calls were received from irate landowners whose fields were being hunted by trespassers.

BLATZ BOWLERS TIE FOR 2D IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

Blatz led the Classic Bowlers with a 3,056 series last night in the Steinbrecher recreation. The team bowled 961, 1,067, and 1,028 to take three games from the Ruppert Knickerbockers, and go into a tie for second place with the Pabst Blue Ribbons, who lost one game to the Michelobs. In winning three games from Schlitz the Monarch Beers went into a tie for first place with the Koenig Braus, who won two games from Ambrosia. Scores:

Packers Whip Cards, 28 to 7; Stay in Race

in a somewhat strange manner. Hutson, who had been patrolled rather stringently by Hall and Goldberg, fielded Isbell's pass on the Card's 1 yard line, but Hall jarred it out of his hands. Interference was ruled and the Packers given the ball on the 1 yard mark, after which Hinkle charged over.

This 14 to 7 status endured until the fourth quarter, the best offensive gesture of the third period being the Cards' march from their own 25 yard line to the Packers' 25 yard line, whereupon Herber intercepted a toss on his own 16.

Uram and Hinkle made it a first down on their own 32 yard line and then Isbell, after failing to find a receiver, stepped fifty-two yards before he was halted on the Cardinal 16 yard mark. On a double reverse, Lou Brock went to the 9 yard line, but that thrust ended when Isbell's pass was no good.

Isbell's Pass Clicks.

The ensuing Cardinal punt rolled to the Packer 30 yard line and there they went to work in earnest. An Isbell to Mulleneaux pass brought the ball to the Cardinal 48 yard mark, and Isbell, on a spinner, got twenty more. Another pass by Isbell went for naught, and then Hinkle brought it to the 9 yard stripe, Brock adding three more on the next play. Isbell was dropped for an eight yard loss, then fired the touchdown pass to Carl Mulleneaux in the end zone.

The final score was started and finished by Hinkle. The Green Bay back intercepted one of McCullough's passes on the Cardinal 20 yard line. Isbell completed a pass to Hutson, but it was outside the end zone and ruled void. Isbell then carried the ball to the 9 yard line thru center, and on the next play Hinkle went around his right end standing up. Statistics:

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—Vic Spadaccini intercepted two forward passes, once to run sixty yards for a touchdown and again in the fourth period to set up another, as the Cleveland Rams whipped the New York Giants, 13 to 0, today in a National Football league game before 23,614 in the Polo Grounds.

The Rams bottled up the Giants so completely on the ground and in the air that the New Yorkers got beyond the Cleveland 35 yard line only once, and then lost the ball on downs on the Rams' 14.

This was the Giants' first shutout at home since they lost to Detroit, 17 to 0, in 1937.

Takes Leemans' Pass.

Spadaccini, a 225 pounder who used to play for Minnesota, combined with Parker Hall and Johnny Drake to whip the New Yorkers. Midway thru the second quarter he came racing up into the flat to intercept Tuffy Leemans' pass on the dead run on his own 40 yard line. With teammates throwing in some helpful blocks, he ran sixty yards. The try for the extra point was wide.

The Giants were just rolling along with a promising drive early in the fourth when Spadaccini stepped in again. This time he intercepted one of Kay Eakin's aerials, but was able to run it back only twenty-one yards to the Giant 38 before Eakin tackled him.

On the first play Hall faded back and shot a long spiral, the Rams' only completed pass, to Jim Benton, who staggered along a few yards before he was tossed out of bounds on the 2 yard line.

Drake Smashes Over.

Here Drake took charge. One buck went to the 1 foot line and the next one went over. This time Spadaccini made good the extra point and that, except for an apparently good thirty-seven yard field goal by Ram Tackle Chet Adams which was ruled out for offsides, was that.

De Paul academy captured the north section title in the Catholic High School Football league yesterday by defeating St. Mel, 25 to 7, on the De Paul field. It was De Paul's sixth consecutive victory and ended its section schedule without a defeat or tie. Either Leo or Mount Carmel will meet De Paul on Nov. 24 for the league championship.

Leo defeated Mount Carmel, 6 to 0, in another feature game played before 15,000 persons in Shewbridge field. In other games Fenwick routed Loyola, 34 to 0; Catholic High of Joliet whipped De La Salle, 6 to 0, St. Peter beat St. Patrick, 6 to 0, and St. George triumphed over Weber, 25 to 6. St. Ignatius celebrated its homecoming by trouncing Marmion of Aurora, 6 to 0.

South Section Race Close.

De Paul academy draws a bye next week and must wait until the south section title is decided before battling for the league crown. Mount Carmel and Leo are staging a neck and neck battle for top honors.

Next Sunday afternoon Leo opposes Catholic High of Joliet on Shewbridge field, and Mount Carmel tangles with Fenwick on Stagg field.

The victor in the Nov. 24 league title game will furnish the opposition for the Chicago Public High school league champion on Nov. 30 in Mayor Kelly's annual charity benefit game in Soldiers' field.

Pass Leads to Score.

The touchdown that gave Leo victory over Mount Carmel came in the third period after an exchange of punts brought the ball to the Mount Carmel 25 yard line. Henry (Babe) Baranowski, Leo quarter back, dropped back to the 30 yard line and passed to Tom McDonald, who caught it on the 10 and was run out of bounds on the 5. Baranowski tried a reverse and gained one yard. Then Bob Kelly plunged over center from the 4 yard line. Lineups:

P. G. A. OPENS 24TH CONVENTION IN CHICAGO TODAY

The 24th national convention of the Professional Golfers' association of America will open today in the Morrison hotel, continuing thru Thursday. Today's activities will be confined largely to important separate meetings of the various committees. Tomorrow will witness the annual educational conference, at which prominent leaders in a number of fields connected with golf will speak. This conference will be distributed over morning and afternoon sessions, with the association's annual dinner dominating the evening's program.

Election of officers is scheduled for Wednesday. The present board of officers includes Tom Walsh of Chicago's Westgate Valley club, who was elected president last November; George R. Jacobus, honorary president; Willie Maguire, treasurer; Capt. Charles Clarke, secretary, and the following vice presidents: Alex Cunningham of Chicago's North Shore club, Joel Smith, Johnny Farrell, Howard Beckett, Wendell Kay, Frank Sprogell, Ed Gibson, Charles Congdon, and Joe Novak.

GOPHERS NEAR TITLE; FOLLOW PATTERN OF 1938

Games Saturday

Indiana at Wisconsin.
Northwestern at Michigan.
Purdue at Minnesota.
Iowa at Notre Dame.
Michigan State at Marquette.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Joe Mernik now takes his place in Minnesota's hall of football fame. By his place kick for the point after Bruce Smith's touchdown Saturday, Mernik gave the Gophers a 7 to 6 victory over Michigan. Thus he helped duplicate the score by which Minnesota won from Michigan two years ago.

In 1938 the 7 to 6 conquest of Michigan was the foundation for the Gophers' Western conference championship. This year, Minnesota may now lose one of its remaining games with Purdue and Wisconsin and still share the title if Northwestern should win this week from Michigan.

If Northwestern, winner of its fourth conference victory Saturday from Illinois, 32 to 14, loses to Michigan, then Minnesota will win the Big Nine title even if defeated once in remaining games. Since Michigan plays only four conference games, Saturday's defeat cost the Wolverines their title opportunity barring the exceedingly long shot parlay that Michigan wins from Northwestern and Minnesota loses to both Purdue and Wisconsin.

Win by Close Margins.

So much for championship possibilities. The odds now are heavily in favor of undefeated Minnesota, which holds nonconference victories over Nebraska, probable Big Six champion, and the University of Washington, defeated for the first time in Pacific coast competition Saturday by Stanford. Minnesota's conquest of Michigan continued a pattern of play outlined in that opening game with Washington when George Franck's 98 yard kickoff return was the deciding score in the Gophers' 19 to 14 victory.

Time was when Michigan seemingly always managed to win by a point, a field goal or a touchdown. In 1930 and 1931, when Crisler was coach at Minnesota, the Gophers lost to Michigan 7 to 0 and 6 to 0, respectively. Jack Wheeler returned a Minnesota punt for the first victory. Bill Hewitt ran fifty-six yards for the second. In 1932, Bernie Bierman's first year at his alma mater, Michigan won 3 to 0 at Minnesota on Harry Newman's field goal. Since 1933, when the teams played a scoreless tie in Ann Arbor, Michigan has not won.

Stop Harmon Third Time.

The result this year, of course, was bitterly disappointing to Michigan, as a one point defeat always must be. Particularly, it was unsatisfactory because of weather conditions which are a source of argument. The fact remains that Minnesota has stopped Tom Harmon for three years. That is without parallel probably in major competition.

Northwestern advances to its final conference battle at Michigan with a varsity which may be depleted by injury. In the Illinois game, won in the final period, in which the Wildcats have rallied to win against most opponents, Ollie Hahnenstein, Jim Smith, Paul Soper, and Don Kruger were added to the list. Hahnenstein's ankle was injured and so was Smith's. All except Kruger, whose right elbow was dislocated, are expected to play at least part of the time against the Wolverines. Bill DeCorrevont also should be completely recovered from his ankle injury which kept him out of practice last week until Friday and limited his effectiveness in his brief appearance against the Illini.

Stanford Marches On.

Stanford, Texas A. & M., Cornell, and Notre Dame matched Minnesota's successful move Saturday in bids for sectional and national honors. The Texas Aggies advanced toward a second consecutive Southwest conference title by whipping previously undefeated Southern Methodist, 19 to 7. John Kimbrough, star full back, led the charge in Dallas' muddy Cotton bowl which broke the first half 7 to 7 tie.

Stanford's Indians, directed by the amazing Clark Shaughnessy, became the only undefeated far western team by rallying to defeat the University of Washington, 20 to 10. Stanford now has only two barriers to hurdle for an undefeated season, a Pacific coast conference title, and a place in the 1941 Rose bowl game. Oregon State, opponent this week, and winner last Saturday over Washington State, 21 to 0, probably can't trip up the Bears. On Nov. 30 California, victor Saturday over U. C. L. A., 20 to 7, furnishes Stanford's final test. Stanford previously had beaten San Francisco, Oregon, Santa Clara, Washington State, Southern California, and U. C. L. A.

As was expected, Cornell advanced easily over Yale, 21 to 0. Notre Dame waited until Navy had taken a 7 to 6 lead before driving 78 yards in the fourth period to win 13 to 7 and thus take its sixth consecutive triumph.

Vikings Defeat Swedes, 3-0, in Soccer Match

BY OFFSIDE.

The Vikings won a hard fought game from the Swedish Americans, 3 to 0, yesterday in the replay of their first round match for the national challenge soccer cup. The battle was closer than the score indicates, with the last two goals being scored in the final 15 minutes of play. Sandy Kellin, goal keeper for the Swedish Americans, was injured in a collision late in the game and was carried off the field. Threatening weather held the attendance to 3,000 spectators.

Harold Anderson set up the Vikings' first goal after 14 minutes when he sent over a high shot that Kellin misjudged. The ball partly cleared and went over to Al O'Hare who headed into the empty goal. Roscoe Andersen of the Vikings went thru to score again later in the first half, but the point was disallowed because of an offside.

Swedes' Threats Fail.

The Swedish Americans threatened repeatedly in the second half. Johnny Kilgour sent a terrific shot past the post from 20 yards and Axel Johnson headed over the bar from 5 yards. The pace told and after 40 minutes Johnny O'Boyle tripped in clearing and Roscoe Andersen converted the opportunity into a goal. Roscoe Andersen scored the third goal a few minutes later. Lineups:

RUSSELL MARTIN WINS GOLF MEET AT FRENCH LICK

French Lick, Ind., Nov. 10 [Special].—Russell Martin of Flossmoor, Chicago, accomplished today what he set out to do a year ago, scoring a 74—73—147, 3 over par, to defeat Jim Frisina of Taylorville, Ill., defending champion, in the second annual Central States Club Championship golf tournament. Frisina carded 78—72—150 in the 36 hole medal play.

Martin posted 33s on each of his out nines yesterday and today. Frisina played 3 over par for each nine. Henry J. McElroy, also of Flossmoor, finished third with a 159.

Mrs. Jack Austin of River Forest, Ill., won the women's club champions' event with a 195. Miss Elsie Mattis of Champaign, Ill., was first in the women's sweepstakes with 208 on the rugged hill course, and H. G. Daumit of Tam o' Shanter, Chicago, captured the men's sweepstakes with a score of 158.

FARLEY DEAL FOR YANKEES ENTERS CLOSING STAGES

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10 (AP).—Smith Davis, Cleveland broker, said tonight that James A. Farley, former postmaster general, would arrive tomorrow to enter into final stages of a deal for purchase of the New York Yankees baseball properties by a syndicate of investors. Farley is expected to be active head of the new organization.

Davis said he expected the purchase would be consummated before the end of this month, but that certain details remain to be completed.

"Of course, we had to wait until the election was out of the way to permit Farley to go ahead with the Yankees," Davis said. "Farley will make all announcements."

NEVADA MOURNS PITTMAN; HOLD RITES THURSDAY

Military Honor Guard for Body in State Capitol.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 10 [Special].—The body of Senator Key Pittman [D. Nev.,] 68 years old, who died in a hospital here this morning, will lie in state Thursday in the Nevada capitol until the funeral is conducted at 3 p. m. [5 o'clock Chicago time]. The Nevada National Guard will provide a guard of honor.

Funeral services for the chairman of the United States senate foreign relations committee and president pro tem of the senate, will be conducted by the Rev. Warren Botkin, rector of Trinity Episcopal church and the body will be placed in a receiving vault until Mrs. Pittman decides where burial will be made.

Gov. E. P. Carville said tonight he will issue a proclamation Tuesday designating Thursday as a day of mourning thruout the state. The governor added that the state had lost a faithful statesman whose 28 years in the senate had brought credit to the state.

Await Colleagues' Arrival.

Selection of pallbearers and final arrangements for the funeral cannot be made until arrival of a delegation of Senator Pittman's colleagues from Washington. The entire membership of the senate has been invited to attend the funeral and a delegation from the house of representatives will come west at the same time.

Senator Pittman was elected for the sixth time last Tuesday. His first term began in 1912 when he served four years of an unexpired term. The senator arrived home for the election campaign in poor health. He was unable to attend a political rally, Nov. 2 and on Monday—election eve—he was taken to a hospital where he died following a heart attack.

Gov. Carville said today that he would make no decision on a successor for the remaining 51 days of Senator Pittman's term until after the funeral Thursday. The governor also will name a successor to serve the first two years of the new term. Then a successor for the remaining four years will be named at the general election.

Scrugham Likely Successor.

The probable successor most discussed is James G. Scrugham, congressman-at-large and the state's only representative in the house. Congressman Scrugham has served four terms and was reëlected last Tuesday. If Scrugham were named for the unexpired term and two years of the new term the governor could call a special election to fill his seat or leave it vacant until 1942.

It was considered unlikely that Gov. Carville would resign to permit Lieut. Gov. Maurice Sullivan to become governor and then appoint him to the senate. Gov. Carville is said to prefer a federal judgeship and it is believed he has in mind the post of Judge F. H. Norcross, who is eligible for retirement on full salary and who is in poor health.

BLAST KILLS ONE, INJURES THREE IN CHEMICAL PLANT

Bound Brook, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP).—An explosion in the acid plant of the Calco Chemical Division of American Cynamid corporation today killed the plant superintendent, injured three workmen and wrecked the interior of the three story masonry and steel structure.

R. M. Taylor, director of manufacturing of the corporation, said the cause of the blast was undetermined. An investigation is to be started immediately.

About 20 persons were working in the 50 by 50 foot plant, but because the explosion occurred during the changing of shifts, many escaped. The acid plant, 1 of 110 buildings in which Calco employs 3,000 persons, was used to manufacture dye stuffs. Nitric acid is employed in the process.

EXPECT GEORGE WILL TAKE OVER PITTMAN'S POST

Washington, D. C. Nov. 10 (AP).—Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, long time friend and confidant of Secretary of State Hull, is expected to take over the chairmanship of the senate foreign relations committee, left vacant by the death of Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.].

George, who was renominated and reelected to the senate in 1938 despite the expressed hope of President Roosevelt that he would be defeated, stands second in line among the Democrats on the 23 member committee.

Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.] outranks him in service and by senate custom could have the chairmanship if he wanted it. But to accept it, Harrison would have to give up his leadership of the equally important finance committee—a step the Mississippi senator's friends said he was not likely to take. No senator may hold two committee chairmanships.

If Harrison decided to make the change, then George would be in line for chairmanship of the finance committee when Senator William H. King [D., Utah], who outranks him but was defeated this year, leaves the senate in January.

FORMER CABINET AID, BEEKMAN WINTHROP DIES

New York, Nov. 10 [Special].—Beekman Winthrop, 66 years old, former assistant secretary of the treasury and the navy and governor of Puerto Rico from 1904 to 1907, died here today of heart disease.

Winthrop, a descendant of John Winthrop, who helped found Boston and became governor of the Massachusetts Bay colony, was senior member of the banking firm of Winthrop & Co. until his retirement last year.

A graduate of Harvard law school, he was private secretary to William H. Taft when the latter was president of the Philippine commission. Later Winthrop became a judge in the Philippines.

ARMOUR AND ITS EMPLOYES GIVE $70,957 TO FUND

A check for $70,957.64 from Armour & Co., representing the $40,957.64 gift of its executives and employés and its own $30,000 corporate gift, was received yesterday by the Community Fund of Chicago.

The check brings contributions of the packing group to the 1940 drive for $3,604.000 to $207,458, or within 85 per cent of its quota of $245,000. Other contributions will be announced tomorrow at a luncheon of leaders of the industrial and women's divisions at the Stevens hotel.

Other gifts announced yesterday were $850 from B-G Foods, Inc.; $750 from Diamond T Motor Car company; $500 each from the Peabody Coal company, Mid-West Construction and Asphalt company; Studebaker Sales company of Chicago and the Celotex company; $400 from A. C. Allyn & Co.; $300 each from the Chicago, Willmington & Franklin Coal Co., the Self Locking Carton company, and O'Bryan Bros., Inc.

OVERCOME AS HE TRIES TO SAVE 2 HORSES IN BLAZE

Raymond Busch, 40 years old, caretaker on the estate of Glen A. Lloyd, Chicago attorney, on St. Mary's road near Town Line road, Lake county, was overcome by smoke yesterday in a vain attempt to rescue two valuable horses trapped in a burning barn on the estate. He was placed under a doctor's care after being rescued by other employés.

The horses, Red Dice and Dextra, were widely known among members of the Mill Creek Hunt club at Millburn, of which Lloyd is a member. Damage caused by the fire was estimated at $8,000. Firemen from Libertyville and Lake Forest, who fought the blaze two hours, said it was prevented from spreading to the adjoining caretaker's house, garage, and owner's home by a fireproof wall.

The cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

2 NEWCOMERS READY TO GREET VISITORS TO BROOKFIELD TODAY

Today will be a free day at Brookfield zoo, the admission fee being waived because of Armistice day, and visitors will be greeted by two newcomers to the zoo's big family.

One is a baby Nile bushbuck, born Saturday night. The timid creature, standing only nine inches tall, has cinnamon colored fur with horizontal white stripes on the flanks, vertical white stripes from shoulder to knee, and white splotches elsewhere. His parents came from the Sudan.

The other newcomer arrived yesterday—a baby viscacha, with soft gray fur shading to white on the belly. The baby is about the size of a gopher. The viscacha is a glorified chinchilla, native to the Argentine pampas.

Three Killed When Auto Is Hit by Freight Train

Apple River, Ill., Nov. 10 [Special].—Three persons were killed here today when their automobile was struck by a west bound Illinois Central extra freight train. The victims were Frank Beggin, 75, the driver; his sister, Annie Beggin, 70, and Mrs. Irene Leamy, 60, of Chicago, who was here for the winter visiting her mother, Mrs. Margaret Powers. The accident occurred as the three were en route home from church.

CHURCHES HONOR WAR DEAD; TODAY IS ARMISTICE DAY

Chicagoans paid tribute yesterday to America's world war dead in pre-Armistice day church services thruout the city. Special demonstrations were held in many parts of the city by American Legion posts and other groups.

At Mundelein college students presented a student written and acted Armistice day program and displayed the flag which flew over the senate building in Washington, D. C., on Nov. 11, 1918.

Other observances will be held today, Armistice day. Forecaster R. E. Gumpf said cloudy weather with occasional light rain is in prospect this morning, with colder weather and possible snow flurries in the afternoon.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

PLANE MAKERS MUCH UPSET BY FEDERAL PLANS

Revive Their Fears of Nationalization.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The Roosevelt administration's authorization for the British government to purchase 12,000 more fighting planes in the United States and the plan to order 20,000 additional planes for the American army have resulted in confusion and fears on the part of American manufacturers.

According to representatives of the industry, the confusion in the aircraft construction program was increased by President Roosevelt's postelection statement that Great Britain and Canada hereafter will receive one-half of the American armament output. The President declared at the same time that the policy of sharing 50-50 with the British would not be permitted to interfere with the American defense program.

Nationalization Is Feared.

The grandiose dimensions of the airplane building program, both on order and contemplated, for Great Britain and for the army and navy, have revived fears on the part of some manufacturers that differences of opinion between them and the government both as to production methods and the capacity to produce, actual and potential, may result in renewed demands for nationalization of the industry.

That there is a substantial ground for such fears was evidenced recently by William S. Knudsen, industrial production chief of Mr. Roosevelt's advisory national defense commission. Speaking before the Army Ordnance association, Knudsen said:

"There is a school of thought in Washington which feels that the government should go into business on a large scale. The government is in business on a large scale right now—on a larger scale than any other country except perhaps Russia, and we don't want any part of the Russian system over here."

Great Load on Industry.

Some idea of the problems faced by the aircraft industry is given by the size of the output they are called upon to produce. The American manufacturers have orders for about 39,000 planes, 25,000 for the army and the navy and 14,000 for the British. In addition to this load they will be asked to turn out in the shortest possible time another 12,000 planes for the British and, when congress convenes in January, another 20,000 for the army.

The automobile industry is to be called upon to take a major part in the production of the 20,000 additional planes for the army by turning out parts and subassemblies, such as wing and tail assemblies. Nevertheless, according to representatives of the industry, American aircraft manufacturers are being called upon to increase their production about twice as rapidly as Germany's was increased under a dictatorship.

Demands Out of Line.

The present rate of production is about 950 planes a month, including trainers. The most optimistic production goal is 3,000 planes a month by the middle of 1942, but President Roosevelt continues to talk about a productive capacity of 50,000 planes a year.

According to representatives of the manufacturers, the burocrats in Washington maintain that the industry does not understand the technique of mass production. The government insists that the manufacturers should be able to perform wonders now that uncertainties have been removed by the passage of the new tax law, permitting amortization of new facilities with tax free earnings over a five year period.

Under a provision of the conscription act, the administration has authority to take over and operate the aircraft factories and all other national defense facilities.

Steel Prices Are Expected to Hold Steady

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10 (AP).—No important changes are expected in the forthcoming announcement of first quarter iron and steel prices, the magazine Steel said today. Prices of ferromanganese and other alloys were reaffirmed last week and may indicate the general price trend, the magazine said.

Reasons advanced for the probable stability of prices are good steel company earnings, sentiment in Washington in favor of moderation of prices generally, reasonably low raw materials prices, and desire of steel producers to keep all phases of business on an even keel.

Pig Iron No Higher.

Failure of a general pig iron advance to materialize is also cited by the magazine as indicating unchanged quotations. Reaffirmation of prices would relieve delivery pressure with some producers having December contracts waiting until 1941.

The steel production rate was unchanged at 96½ per cent of capacity last week.

Production of open hearth and Bessemer ingots in October, 6,461,898 tons, was the highest on record, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported, with the average rate of 96.10 per cent, passing the previous peak of November, 1939, by nearly three points.

Composite Prices Steady.

Three composite price compilations remain unchanged — steel scrap at $20.54, iron and steel at $38.06, and finished steel at $56.60 a ton.

Pittsburgh steel production rose 2 points to 97 per cent and Youngstown 1 to 92. Chicago dropped a point to 97, Cleveland 3½ to 86½, Buffalo 2 to 93, New England 5 to 85, and Detroit 2 to 93. Unchanged were Eastern Pennsylvania at 94, Wheeling 98½, Birmingham 100, Cincinnati 94, and St. Louis 85.

LAKE ORE FLEET SEEKS SEASON TRAFFIC RECORD

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10 [Special].—Record smashing operations of the Great Lakes ore fleet will be continued this month unless thick ice fields block navigation channels to upper lake ports, vessel men predicted today.

With all-time loading marks for September and October already inscribed in marine archives, the fleet is moving toward a new season record. The old record is 65,204,600 tons, established in 1929.

Carriers brought 10,061,127 tons of ore down the lakes last month, which was the largest amount transported in October in the history of the Great Lakes. The movement was 9,201,249 tons in the same month last year.

The heavy movement brought shipments for the season up to Nov. 1 to 58,296,354 tons, against only 39,593,570 tons in the corresponding period last year. The fleet must load only 7,000,000 tons this month to set a new record.

Pennsylvania's 'Display Engine' to Operate Soon

The Pennsylvania railroad announced yesterday that its large coal burning passenger locomotive, No. 6100, which was on display two seasons at the New York World's Fair, soon would start hauling the road's "Blue Ribbon" trains in and out of Chicago. The locomotive, built to pull 14 car trains at a speed of 100 miles an hour, will operate across northern Indiana and as far east as Crestline, O.

Cuban Direct Consumption Sugar Quota Is Exhausted

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10 [Special].—The sugar division of the Agricultural Adjustment administration announced today that the 1940 Cuban direct consumption quota, which is that part of the total Cuban sugar quota which may enter the United States for use without further processing, was exhausted Nov. 8, 1940.

PLAN TO GUARD SUPPLIES OF OIL FROM SABOTAGE

Immediate survey of the nation's gasoline storage facilities to devise means of safeguarding stocks against possible sabotage is being undertaken by the American Petroleum institute, Executive Vice President W. R. Boyd Jr. announced yesterday.

W. R. Boyd Jr.

Boyd said the institute had accepted an invitation of the national defense commission to undertake the work, is creating committees representative of the entire industry to promote the project, and will hold informal discussion of survey plans during the institute's 21st annual meeting which opens today in the Stevens hotel.

VULTEE AIRCRAFT WORKERS REDUCE NEW PAY DEMAND

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10 (AP).—The United Automobile and Aircraft Workers [C.I.O. union] which has threatened to strike at the Vultee Aircraft factory voted at a mass-meeting today to reduce their minimum wage demand from 75 cents an hour to 65 cents, which is 15 cents above the present minimum.

By 2,552 to 52 vote last Friday, the members authorized their officers to call a strike if negotiations failed. This authorization was reiterated today.

MEDICINE FIRM'S PROFITS HIGHER IN NINE MONTHS

Sterling Products, Inc., maker of household medicines and other products, yesterday reported net earnings, after all charges including normal income taxes, were $7,230,584, equivalent to $4.15 a share of stock outstanding, for the nine months ended Sept. 30. Earnings were $7,100,098, equal to $4.14 a share, a year earlier.

For the third quarter, earnings amounted to $1,656,161, or 95 cents a share, compared with $1,790,045, or $1.04 a share last year.

SOFT COAL.

In an old booklet about the coal industry, I read that Consolidation Coal Company, Inc., is the world's largest producer of soft coal. Is this still true? What are the company's recent earnings and dividend record and where is its stock listed?—R. D. F.

Answer: Consolidation Coal company had been described in the past as the world's largest soft coal producer, but now ranks as one of the four largest units in the bituminous coal industry in the United States. Its unmined reserves of approximately 1.8 billion tons of coal are believed to be the largest in the world. Most of its output is sold to large industrial users, public utilities, and railroads.

Competitive penetration of natural gas and oil as substitutes for coal as fuel, increasing production costs, and other adverse factors have pulled this company's operations below the profit level in three of the last four years.

Coal sales, net income and earnings per common share in the last four years compared as follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Earned per com. shr.
1936	$30,277,000	*$78,280	*$1.26
1937	32,142,000	89,524	*0.69
1938	25,727,000	*927,147	*3.82
1939	25,117,000	*863,915	*3.42

*Loss.

Coal sales, net income, and earnings half of 1940 amounted to $14,826,000 and net income to $136,257, compared with sales of $12,669,816 and net loss of $847,373 in the first half of 1939.

Capitalization of the company consists of funded debt of $10,216,500, on which interest charges were earned only in 1937; 58,229 shares of 5 per cent noncumulative convertible preferred stock, and 338,034 shares of $25 par common stock. The shares are listed on the New York Stock exchange. No dividend has been paid on either of the stocks.

The company operates 19 mines in Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Kentucky. It was formed in November, 1935, to succeed in reorganization a company of the same name which was placed in receivership in 1932.

SHORTEST RAILROAD.

Can you tell me what is the shortest railroad in this country? —F. M.

Answer: The Valley railroad, which runs one mile in Westline, McKean county, Pa., is described by the Association of American Railroads as the shortest line-haul railroad in the country. Its revenue is derived entirely from freight and switching operations. The Beaufort & Morehead railroad, operating 3.3 miles in North Carolina, is the shortest passenger and freight road.

County Heirs Get 40 Million in Six Months

Property valued at more than 40 million dollars was passed on to heirs in the distribution of 570 estates of substantial size in Cook county during the first six months of 1940, a survey disclosed yesterday.

Reuben A. Lewis Jr.

In making public the results of a study by the Metropolitan Trust company, Reuben A. Lewis Jr., executive vice president, said the total represents the amount remaining after the payment of all debts and claims against the estates.

The largest estate in which heirs shared was valued at nearly 3 million dollars, and two exceeded 2 millions, and five topped a million each, Lewis said.

Security Holdings Predominate.

"Holdings of stocks and bonds made up the greater portion of the big estates," he said. "Real estate represented only about a fifth of the aggregate value of the larger estates."

The survey showed that only one estate in six is sufficiently large to require the payment of inheritance tax to the state.

"Cook county enjoys the distinction, from the volume of business transacted, of having the largest probate court in the world under one judge," Lewis said. "In New York the probate work is handled by several surrogates.

Total 110 Million a Year.

"About $110,000,000 annually changes hands in Chicago and Cook county thru inheritance. The estates running $50,000 and up account for around $80,000,000 of this total, while most of several thousand smaller estates which are probated represent from 30 to 35 millions.

"If the principal of trust funds distributed to beneficiaries were added to this figure it is estimated that he total amount would reach $135,000,000 annually."

WPA AUTHORIZES OVER 96 MILLIONS IN DEFENSE WORK

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10 (AP).—The Works Progress administration said today it had authorized expenditure of $96,868,559 since July 1 for national defense construction and improvement projects and the training of defense workers.

A total of $86,657,529 was assigned for construction and rehabilitation work at airports, army and navy posts and National Guard armories and camps, Acting Commissioner Howard O. Hunter said.

November's Auto Output Estimate Is Increased.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 10 [Special].—Ward's Reports, Inc., today increased its estimate of November automobile production to at least 425,000 cars and trucks. The earlier estimate placed output for the month at 400,000 to 425,000 units.

Market Holiday

The Armistice day holiday will be observed today by banks and securities and commodity exchanges thruout the country. Live stock markets will operate as usual. Canadian exchanges generally will suspend business for the holiday.

COAL PRICE RISE WILL BE FOUGHT BY MILWAUKEE

Assails Increases on Contract Terms.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10.—Any attempt of the bituminous coal division of the department of interior to enforce price increases which, under its regulations, became effective Oct. 1 will be fought in the courts by the city of Milwaukee and Milwaukee county.

City and county coal contracts were made last June by central purchasing departments of the two governments. Budgets were fixed on the basis of these contract prices, and to pay increases of 5 to 11 cents a ton, as the city has been billed, would upset the budget.

Under regulations of Secretary Harold L. Ickes' coal division, dealers were ordered to increase prices of soft coal 11 cents a ton Oct. 1 when the price at the mines was increased a like amount. This order also applied to coal already on hand to prevent retail sales at prices less than newly mined coal would cost and to prevent well-stocked dealers from holding an advantage over those buying in the current market.

Billed at Higher Price.

Joseph W. Nicholson, city purchasing agent, contracted for 85,000 tons of coal for all city purposes last June. The contract prices were $4.35 to $5.70 a ton. When the city was billed for coal, already delivered, at 5 to 11 cents a ton more than the contract price, Nicholson asked the city legal department for a ruling.

Assistant City Attorney Charles W. Babcock informed Nicholson that the city could not pay more than the contract price and added that constitutionality of the coal division regulation would be attacked in the courts if the dealers attempted to collect the higher price.

Dealers are helpless in the situation. They were forced to become members of a coal code authority to escape paying a penalty of 19½ cents a ton on every ton they sell. If they do not collect the increased price they face loss of code membership and the penalty tax, which all agree would be ruinous.

County Promises Fight.

Thus far the county has not been billed for coal at the increased price, according to W. L. Coffee, manager of the purchasing department. If it is, he said, the county will refuse to pay because it would upset the budget. Coffee also said the county would resist the price increase in court, if necessary.

Taking his cue from a recent ruling of the controler general of the United States on a similar question raised by the postoffice department in Chicago, Postmaster John A. Fleissner said he would pay only the contract price for the 55 tons of coal he buys for Milwaukee postoffices.

"The interior department isn't running the postoffice department," he added.

Salesmen.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N

B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 in a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 24 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are succesful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, telephone and girl hire, consign our merchandise and finance your account.

Apply Monday at 1 p. m. sharp. Ask for Mr. Leonard, 2d floor, Standard National Bank Building, 7919 S. Ashland-av.

WIEBOLDT'S

Will place 2 men, one North Side resident, one South Side in permanent, well paying percentage position offering above average earnings, with a secure future. Only those who can prove their ability to sell on floor thru Household Appliance Dept. will be accepted. Thoro training given. Men must be over 27, neat appearing and show eagerness to work for promotion. Car necessary. Apply Personnel office, 3d floor, DAVIS-ST., EVANSTON, or Personnel Office, 5th floor, 63D NEAR HALSTED, 10 A. M. Monday.

ARE YOU SATISFIED?

Does your present position offer you unlimited possibilities, good income, future security? Can you interview people? Can you qualify for a chance in the real estate business offering small garden farm homesites? Business is booming. Large earnings and quick results are yours if you can follow a proven plan that gets results. Trained executives assist with full co-operation. Drawing account against large commissions. Interviews between 9:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. Monday, Nov. 11, only.
SEE MR. McDONALD,

OPPORTUNITY

For man with car to start immediately with large national concern. Products are sold thru qualified appointments only; direct to consumer. THIS IS POSITIVELY NOT CANVASSING. Work is dignified, respectable and man must furnish acceptable references. Earnings around $150 mo., percentage-bonus, and expense arrangement. Apply Monday before noon.
